NANAIMO MINE WORKERS ASK ARBITRATION

Apply For Operation of Lemieux Act to Settle Wage Dispute

Ballot Rejects Renewal of Agreement by Sweeping Majority

Refusing to renew their old wage agreement with the Western Fuel Corporation, Nanaimo miners have applied to the Federal Department of Labor for a board of arbitration under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. J. D. McEwen, Deputy Minister of Labor for British Columbia, announced today after his return from the Island capital. Joseph Hitchen has been appointed by the miners as their representative on the board of three which is provided for by the federal statute commonly known as the Lemieux Act. The miners' action follows a mass meeting in Nanaimo Saturday. This meeting decided to attempt to break the present deadlock with the company over wages by invoking the Lemieux Act. Mr. McEwen and J. E. Harrison, Dominion Wage Officer, addressed the meeting to explain how the Act could be invoked.

EXPECT ACTION SOON
The Federal Labor Department is expected to appoint the chairman of the conciliation board shortly. The Western Fuel Corporation is required under the Act to name a representative to sit on the board, or if the federal officer, the Federal Minister of Labor may appoint a member to represent the employers. The finding of the conciliation board is not binding on either side, but while its investigations are proceeding the miners may not strike, and the employers may not order a lock-out.

Meanwhile the miners will proceed with their work under the terms of the old wage agreement which expired last week.

DISPUTE OVER BONUS
The present wage dispute centres around the high cost of living bonus granted to the miners after the war. At that time the company recognized, by awarding a bonus of ninety cents a day in addition to their standard wages, but within a year this was cut to thirty cents, owing to competitive conditions in the mining business. This thirty-cent bonus has prevailed up to the present, but the miners are determined to renew a similar agreement. They demand a larger bonus or an adjustment of standard wages to accomplish the same result.

A secret ballot, taken by the miners Friday showed 408 for refusal to renew the agreement and 208 in favor of renewal. The 1,200 men are affected by the dispute.

COMPANY STANDS FIRM
After Saturday's mass meeting Mr. McEwen and Mr. Harrison met officials of the Western Fuel Corporation and asked them if they would consider any compromise with the miners to avoid the operation of the Lemieux Act. The officials said they had gone as far as they intended in dealing with the employees and the miners' application to the Labor Department followed.

ERROR AT PLAY COST YOUNG BOY HIS LIFE

He Backed Directly in Front of Approaching Automobile in Maillardville

Maillardville, B.C., Oct. 3.—Emil Hermans, eight-year-old Belgian boy of Pitt River Road, Maillardville, died in St. Mary's Hospital, New Westminster, shortly after last midnight of injuries sustained when he was hit by an automobile driven by D. McBride, Pitt Meadows, while playing near his home Sunday afternoon.

According to the police, Emil was playing with another boy when he backed directly into the path of McBride's approaching car. McBride attempted to avoid the accident by turning into the ditch, but the lad was hit by the fender.

As the accident appeared unavoidable, no charge has been made against McBride.

Emil's parents came to Maillardville recently from Vancouver.

Two Planes Hop Off at San Francisco For Eastward Trips

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—Two seaplanes took off from the Field here for the east today. The first was the Ontario monoplane Royal Windsor, piloted by C.A. (Duke) Schiller. The other was a seaplane, the Miss Vedol, piloted by Ed. Brunson. Schiller took off for Reno, Nevada. Brunson took off for Los Angeles and expected to proceed east from Los Angeles.

FOUND HANGING FROM TREE LIMB

Body of Missing Norwegian Discovered in Woods Near Portage Inlet

In a dim recess of the woods on the Spanish side of Portage Inlet, hanging by a hempen cord from the lower branch of a tree, the body of Anders Christian Olsen was discovered yesterday afternoon by Game Guardian John Tait. Missing since the last day of August, Olsen's disappearance did not alarm anyone particularly. He had been living at 2517 Rock Bay Avenue while on holiday from the north, resting after a strenuous spell aboard ship.

His sudden departure, while arousing conjecture, did not cause much comment. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Tait telephoned Chief of Police Rankin and Constable Fred Carway of Saanich, and the two officers went to the spot where the remains of the man still hung. The body was badly decomposed, but was identified from articles of clothing and papers.

Police describe the posture of the body when found as almost resting on its knees. Olsen had tied the noose about his neck while standing upright and then had deliberately fallen forward and kept his weight off his feet.

Mr. Olsen, who was thirty-five years of age, was born in Norway, where he leaves one sister to mourn his loss. He was employed as a marine engineer by the Wallace Fisheries of Vancouver, and was a member of the Eagles lodge.

The remains are resting at Sand's Funeral Parlor, where an inquest will be conducted to-morrow morning.

VANCOUVER TO HAVE LARGER POST OFFICE

Postmaster-General, There To-day, Will Visit Seattle and Then Victoria

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Plans for expansion of the Vancouver general post office will probably be announced at Ottawa within a few weeks, according to Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General of Canada, now resting at Sand's in the course of a tour of the West.

Several schemes, including the erection of a new building beside the present one, and the use of the recently acquired Winth Block, are being considered by the Department of Public Works. Mr. Veniot said, "but which plan will be submitted I do not know as yet."

RURAL ROUTES
Increase in settlers in the interior of British Columbia has necessitated the creation of several new rural routes and tenders will be called shortly for delivery contracts, the Postmaster-General announced.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—The purposes of the United States in declaring its readiness to undertake, with Canada, the St. Lawrence waterways project, were explained by William Phillips, United States Minister to Canada, before the Canadian Club of Toronto today.

Inaccurate references were being made, regarding these purposes, said the Minister.

"These ideas are founded on a palpably erroneous conception of the powers of the Government of the United States," Mr. Phillips said.

"I refer to statements that my Government is in fact interested in the power development rather than in the navigation. The constitution of the United States provides: 'Congress shall have power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states.'"

COURTS' INTERPRETATION.
"This has been interpreted by our courts as follows:

"This power to regulate commerce includes the power to regulate navigation and, to the extent necessary, applies to all navigable waters of the United States which are accessible from a state other than those in which they lie."

MILLIONS INTERESTED
"Now certain states bordering on the Great Lakes and others adjacent to them, numbering in all twenty-two, have a deep interest in the navigation of the Great Lakes and in the improvement of waterways and canals to the ultimate realization of direct commerce."

VANCOUVER MAYOR WARNS AGAINST FIREMEN'S STRIKE

Maclean Pleaded With Prospects in Nelson Seat

McDonald, Liberal, Splendid Candidate, Premier Says on Return

Liberal prospects in the coming Nelson by-election are excellent. Premier Maclean declared on his return to the Parliament Buildings today after his recent visit to the interior riding.

J. A. McDonald, mayor of Nelson, who is the Liberal nominee, is a splendid candidate, Dr. Maclean said. Mr. McDonald, he added, had received large majorities in municipal elections for many years, and is extremely popular with the people of Nelson.

"Nelson Liberals are confident of retaining the seat for the Government," the Premier said. "I regard the situation as thoroughly satisfactory from Liberal Party's standpoint."

No-date for the poll has been fixed yet, the Premier stated.

SEES BIG PROGRESS
The Premier to-day said that while he had been made familiar by official and other reports with the great development going on in the Kootenays, he had not quite realized the tremendous impetus mining and smelting had received, and the extent to which this was revitalizing all lines of commercial endeavor throughout the territory.

He had come back, he said, more optimistic than ever regarding the future of the upper country. He had not been able to go through the Okanagan, but he had learned at Penticton that the outlook for the fruit growers was more favorable. It was expected that prices would work out at fifty or sixty cents a box more than those of last year.

OCTOBER HEAT CAUSES DEATHS IN NEW YORK

Many Prostrations Reported in Northeastern Part of United States

Heat Records For October Broken; Fritz Scheff Fainted on Stage

New York, Oct. 3.—Thousands of residents in the North and Middle Atlantic states went to the beaches over the week-end to escape an unseasonable heat wave that broke all records for October and caused three deaths and many prostrations.

The mark of 87 degrees in New York City was higher than any temperature recorded last August.

Donald Morey, twenty-three, died in a New Brunswick hospital to which he was taken after being overcome by heat during the football game Saturday between Rutgers and Manhattan Colleges. Morey played guard for Manhattan. Heat took the lives of an eighty-nine-year-old man in New York City and a baby girl at Grantwood, N.J.

Among those prostrated was Fritz Scheff, actress, who fainted on the stage near the end of her performance in "Bye Bye Bonnie" in a theatre at New Haven, Conn.

In upstate New York state the mercury was in the nineties.

VICTORIANS LEAVE TO-DAY ON TRAMP OF 28,000 MILES AROUND WORLD

First Canadian hikers who have attempted a joint "walk around the world" left Victoria to-day on a little hike of some 28,000 miles, which they hope to complete by 1934. Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Long, who reached Victoria Sunday afternoon on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia from Shanghai.

Summarizing the revolutionary situation in China to-day, Mr. Moore said: "Things are going from bad to worse. She has no backbone and no feet to stand upon."

"The word patriotism does not exist in the Chinese vocabulary. It was invented by Chinese students educated in universities and colleges on this continent and used to bias the Nationalist propaganda throughout the country. She has no constitution, no flag and no stability. It will be necessary to grind bones into the jellyfish before the country can be placed upon its feet."

MORE DECADENT
Mr. Moore stressed the point that sentimentalists in the United States had to quite recently considered that China could be put into a stable position.

"They have now realized their mistake," he said.

"China to-day is more decadent than she has ever been but we must not forget that she led civilization 2,000 years ago and she may easily do so again, if a policy of slow reconstruction is pursued."

Mr. Moore related some interesting experiences by showing those 2,000 White Russians under Chang Chung Chang had at times defeated the Red Russians.

TELEPHONE ACROSS ATLANTIC OCEAN

Service Inaugurated To-day By Premier King and Premier Baldwin

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—"Hello, are you there?" "Is that Mr. Mackenzie King?" "Yes, is that Mr. Baldwin?" Premier King sat in his room in the East Block of the Parliament Buildings here to-day, a telephone receiver to his ear. About him were gathered officials of the Bell Telephone Company and newspapermen, each with an extension receiver. Away at No. 10 Downing Street, London, Premier Stanley Baldwin sat in the old room, where successive Imperial Conferences have sat to discuss Empire problems.

In Ottawa, the clock in the Peace Tower broke the conversation with a boom of ten. Big Ben at Westminster was striking three.

It was the official inauguration of transatlantic telephone service between points in Great Britain on the one hand and Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Quebec on the other.

HEARD DISTINCTLY
Mr. Baldwin's voice, as it came over the extension receivers was at times indistinct, but the two Premiers evidently heard each other with facility.

"I hear you distinctly, Mr. Baldwin. Do you hear me?" asked Mr. King.

"I hear you as though you were in the next room," said Mr. Baldwin.

NOTED MARCH KING ARRIVES WITH BAND FOR CONCERT HERE

John Philip Sousa's Military Marches Now Total 116 and More Coming

John Philip Sousa, march king of the world, seventy-two years of age, but still a smart "young" military person, arrived in Victoria this morning with his band of eighty musicians for their two concerts this afternoon and evening at the Arena.

For thirty-six years this band conductor and march composer has been before the public of the world. He made his first appearance as a violinist when he was twelve years of age. At twenty-five he was conductor of the famous Marine Band of Washington.

"Not being a gushing young girl, you see, I don't mind telling my age," said the band leader.

For thirty-five years he has been at the head of the band which bears his name. He has played in Victoria five times.

"I remember Victoria well," he went on. "It was in this city we gave our first concert on the Western hemisphere when we returned from our world tour in 1912."

"You know, these two countries, Canada and the United States, are really brothers. And thank God they speak the same language!"

"We expect to tour Britain next year. We have toured there five times before. They are rattling good listeners over there and if there is anything that a conductor craves more than another, it is to be listened to."

Of the stirring Sousa marches, which are used by military bands wherever soldiers march, there are now no less than 116. Dr. Sousa wrote three more this year, the "Magna Charta," "Riders of the Flag," and "University of Minnesota" marches.

THREE KILLED BY TORONTO EXPLOSION

Man, Wife and Daughter Lost Lives in House; Gasoline Is Blamed

Toronto, Oct. 3.—An explosion of gasoline on Saturday wrecked the home of Charles Roy House in Rosedale, Toronto, taking a toll of three lives and severely injuring four other members of the family, as well as Lulu Hittich, a maid, and Esther Goldin, a cook.

Although most of the inmates of the House were conscious when removed from the wreckage, none could give a coherent account of the circumstances that led to the explosion.

The baby, Jean House, aged three, died in the wreckage, and its body was found in the wreckage.

JAPANESE ON TRIAL IN VANCOUVER COURT

T. Matsuo Accused of Having Tried to Kill Kisuke Ikada

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Bearing the scar of a four-inch cut from the bit of an axe which penetrated the left ear to the brain, Kisuke Ikada was a witness in the assize court here to-day against another Japanese, T. Matsuo, whose trial is proceeding on a charge of attempted murder.

Cross-examination of the injured man was directed by J. R. Macdonald, defence counsel, to show that Ikada during the past few years had taken part in several affrays. The witness did not know his competitor had dubbed him "Fighting Ikada."

The assault on Ikada occurred in a lane at the rear of 338 Alexander Street on the evening of April 17 last. Ikada and Yoshida met Matsuo and Kawana, and the accused, as alleged, invited witness to have a drink.

Ikada testified he told Matsuo that he, Matsuo, could not buy drinks because he had lost his money in a Chinese gambling house. Matsuo replied that he was insured, and Ikada testified that he urged him not to get angry over such a trifle.

The men separated and Ikada was walking towards Gore Avenue when he was struck over the ear.

Matsuo then hit him on the chest and shouted, "You die," according to the witness.

Gordon S. Wimmer is prosecuting counsel.

SAYS CHINA NOT READY TO GOVERN

Lack of Communications, and Illiteracy Bar to Progress, F. Moore Claims

"No country can have stable government with such poor communications as exist in China."

"Ninety-eight per cent of the Chinese population of 400,000,000 are illiterate and no country can be properly governed by an illiterate people."

"Over ninety per cent of the Chinese people are constantly on the verge of starvation."

These are the real reason for strife in China, according to Frederick Moore, special correspondent of The New York Times, who reached Victoria Sunday afternoon on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia from Shanghai.

Summarizing the revolutionary situation in China to-day, Mr. Moore said: "Things are going from bad to worse. She has no backbone and no feet to stand upon."

I. W. KILLAM DIRECTS THE MAIL AND EMPIRE

Change in Daily Newspaper Field of Toronto is Announced

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Official announcement has been made of the sale of The Toronto Mail and Empire to I. W. Killam, president of the Royal Securities Corporation of Montreal. The transaction was completed on Saturday.

Mr. Killam was elected the new president. Mr. Killam is the managing editor of The Mail and Empire, and George E. Scroggie, its business manager, as directors. Mr. Scott was appointed managing director and assumed charge immediately.

With the announcement the statement is made that The Mail and Empire under its new ownership, will maintain the traditions of the newspaper and advocate and support the same national principles.

ESTABLISHED IN 1872
The history of The Mail and Empire which dates back more than half a century, has been, interesting and eventful. Originally, the newspaper was known as The Toronto Mail. It began publishing in 1872 and continued with the same charter and title until 1898, when The Toronto Empire, another Conservative morning newspaper, which came into being in 1887, was amalgamated with The Mail under the present name. Establishment of The Toronto Mail originated in the mind of John A. Macdonald.

Charles Hordie, the retiring president, occupied that position fifty years ago. Associated with him as general managers were the late Christopher Bunting, W. J. Douglas and, more recently, J. S. Douglas, who succeeded his father and directed The Mail and Empire until Saturday, when he retired from active business life.

MANY INTERESTS
I. W. Killam, the new owner of The Mail and Empire, is a native of Yarmouth, N.S., and is forty-two years of age. His enterprises extend in Canada from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. He also owns or controls industries in South America, Central America, Cuba and Newfoundland.

In the authorized announcement given to the Canadian Press, it is stated The Mail and Empire is entirely Mr. Killam's own personal enterprise and that he has no associates outside his executive staff.

THREE DEATHS IN HOUSE EXPLOSION

Tragedy in Toronto Caused By Gasoline Used For Cleaning Purposes

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Pending completion of the investigation by Provincial Fire Marshal Heaton, no arrangements have been made for the inquest on the bodies of C. R. House, his wife and young daughter, killed in an explosion which wrecked their home in the Rosedale section of Toronto Saturday afternoon. The four young survivors of the family—John, six, Adrienne, ten; Joan eight and Victor twelve, are all out of danger. John is in a hospital suffering from burns and reported to be in better condition to-day, while the three other children, suffering from bruises and shock, are in the care of their grandparents at Niagara Falls.

The cook and nursemaid of the ill-fated household were reported in good condition in a hospital to-day. Robert Kellie, the cook, is suffering from burns and scalds received when she was blown out of the kitchen while Lillie Hietikko, eighteen, suffered hip injuries when the force of the explosion blew her from an upper story window.

PROFESSOR'S OPINION
Fire Marshal Heaton's opinion that the use of gasoline in a washing machine in the basement, ignited by a gas heater, caused the explosion, brought the comment from J. W. Bain, professor of chemical engineering in the University of Toronto, that this was quite probable. His theory was that the use of the gas on curtains in the washing machine vaporized it quickly, giving in the basement of the house much the same condition as in the cylinder of a gas engine. Any red hot object, fire, or even friction produced by rubbing the curtains, he said, would produce an explosion capable of doing even greater damage than was the case. A single gallon, partly vaporized and ignited, would be sufficient to blow up a large house, he said.

Victoria Chinese Robbed in Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Fong Sing Tan, Victoria Chinese, was struck over the head with a monkey wrench and robbed of $145 early Sunday morning in Vancouver's Chinatown, according to a report made to the city police. Two compatriots were responsible for the robbery, according to Fong.

Medical attention was found necessary to dress Fong's wounds.

Investigating the case later, Detectives W. G. Grant and Rod McLeod arrested Wong Foon-sien, Pender Street East, and Wong Fook-sien, Eleventh Avenue West, and charged them with the crime.

HUSKY BRINGS NEW HEALTH, WEIGHT TO FRANCIS AVE. MAN

Indigestion, Gas on Stomach and Other Ills Had Put Stanley Buckley in Poor Condition

No wonder such a large number of Victoria people are using Husky, the wonderful medicine for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, which is distributed by the MacFarlane Drug Co. No. 10. It is no wonder for this medicine is not only a great relief giver but is a real health and strength builder besides.

Mr. Stanley Buckley, 445 Francis Avenue, recently reported an "experience with Husky which will illustrate the way this medicine is giving real and lasting help to Victoria residents. Mr. Buckley says:

"I was underweight and in a general run down condition. I believe the trouble was largely coming from a bad case of indigestion with which I had been afflicted for some time. I was suffering much from gas on my stomach, this trouble afflicting me after every meal it seemed.

"I have found Husky a great aid to digestion and since I've been using it my treatment I have gained back the weight I lost while in such poor condition. Husky has improved my health in every way and I readily give it my endorsement."

Husky is a wonderful aid to digestion and relieves those common ailments from a disordered condition of the stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels, such as gas on stomach, headaches, dizzy spells, constipation, rheumatic pains, nervous sleep, nervousness and weakness.

CALL AT MACFARLANE DRUG CO.
In order that everyone may understand about Husky and its treatment, an expert from the Husky Laboratories is now making his headquarters at the MacFarlane Drug Co., exclusive distributors of Husky, and he will gladly explain this medicine to you and how the best and quickest results can be obtained from its treatment. Call on him to-day. (Adv.)

SAYS CHINA NOT READY TO GOVERN YET

"These 2,000 White Russians," said he, "by means of armored trains running between Peking and the Yangtze River from Nanking, and Peking, a distance of 120 miles, captured Peking immediately after the Nanking disaster and held it for a period of ten days in spite of the army of well over the 100,000 mark which was harassing them."

"In fact, concluded Mr. Moore, these 2,000 White Russians, prevented the crush of the Southern Army, at a decisive point of the Yangtze, and the Southerners seemed to be carrying everything before them."

START OF MOVEMENT
Canton saw the start of the Nationalist movement and it was then that the Chinese dropped the republic and the constitution and the flag, said Mr. Moore, adding that the word "parliament" has never since been mentioned.

There appeared Borodin, the Bolshevik agent, and by his agency and lieutenant, anti-foreign propaganda was carried from Canton up the Yangtze. Popular slogans were invented, such as "China for the Chinese."

There were anti-Japanese societies in every city, the correspondent said. Suddenly there came a change and the propaganda was turned chiefly against the British, although directed against all foreigners.

Mr. Moore reached the revolution-ary area in China in February of this year and, he points out, when he discovered that Americans had been misled by the widespread propaganda he began to expose it in his writing. The way substantiated by subsequent developments.

GLAD OF PROTECTION
On February 27, Mr. Moore went on, eighty American missionaries petitioned the United States Government by cable to remove the gunboats from the river at Nanking.

Within six weeks the same American missionaries were seeking refuge on the very gunboats they had asked to have removed, but which the U.S. Government had wisely refrained from doing.

It was at this time, the correspondent added, that a largely signed memorandum of grateful thanks by Americans was forwarded to the British Government for the protection afforded foreigners in the disturbed zone. Mr. Moore is well-versed in Oriental affairs, having had twelve years' experience in the Far East.

From 1910 to 1916 he was adviser to the Japanese Government on foreign affairs and in 1922 was assigned to the Washington Conference.

VENIOT ADDRESSES VANCOUVER AUDIENCE

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Before the Vancouver Laurier Club at luncheon today, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General of Canada, declared that so far as any effort of his could go, Vancouver's harbor would have his full thought and support for the things he thought should be done.

He declared he had given the matter of development of the Peace River his thought and had obtained information from many unbiased sources.

Austrian-German Demonstration Held

Vienno, Oct. 3.—Seventy-five thousand Pan-Germans held a monster demonstration in front of the old Royal Palace yesterday in favor of the Austro-German union with Germany. The intention was to emphasize Austria's friendship with Germany and Austria's right to self-determination.

Farm Prices in Britain Falling

London, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The general level of prices of agricultural produce in Great Britain during the last twelve months was the lowest since the World War, according to official figures issued here. Wheat prices were lower than in the two previous years. Fat cattle were sold at lower prices in the past year than in the last six years, though the past year's prices were thirty-one per cent above those of 1911.

BIG POTATO EATERS

Germany eat an average of seven bushels of potatoes per person a year. The average in America is less than three bushels, and that allows for about one bushel for culls, spoilage and shrinkage.

Peking, Oct. 3.—The important city of Kaiping, the largest commercial centre north of Peking, has been captured by Shanai province troops from the Northerners, official foreign quarters were advised to-day.

ILLINOIS MINERS RETURN TO WORK

Soft Coal to be Raised From Pits After Six-month Strike

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Re-opening of Illinois soft coal mines, closed six months because of wage differences, will not reflect any appreciable change in the price of coal to the consumers, operators believe.

Seventy-two thousand miners are affected by the agreement reached by a committee representing operators and union miners late Saturday, which provides for payment of the same scale the men received when the mines closed April 1 last. The date ended the Jacksonville wage scale accord and it was the operators' refusal to renew that rate and the miners' refusal to accept less that precipitated the strike.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who took part in the conference here, was confident the action in Illinois would lead to prompt settlement throughout the central competitive field of the United States, in which most of the union operated mines are located.

INSURANCE TO AID AVIATION IN CANADA

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—There should be no difficulty in obtaining reasonable insurance for airway companies in Canada, declared H. W. Crawley, of the Insurance Company of C. T. Bowring, London, Eng., which is associated with Lloyd's.

Mr. Crawley has just made a tour across Canada, looking into the needs of the aviation industry, and will spend the next few days on the coast before proceeding east through the United States.

Aviation insurance is carried by insurance companies quite heavily in Great Britain, stated Mr. Crawley, and although the losses have been heavy in some cases, it has been found they do not give too great a risk to undertake.

This service would be extended by his firm to Canada if there was such a demand, stated Mr. Crawley. French lines were not insured by his company, as it has been found the risk was decidedly greater in case of both equipment and pilots.

Mr. Crawley is accompanied by his wife, son and daughter.

Business conditions in all parts of Canada are remarkably good, he says.

DUNWELL TROUBLES SUMMARIZED HERE

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—What's wrong with Dunwell?

The question is causing so much interest in British Columbia, where most of Dunwell's stock is held, that from Stewart, Victoria and local sources The Sun has gathered and collected information to the following effect:

1. R. M. Stewart, president, has informed Vancouver brokers that the mill will close in one month's time for lack of broken ore. By running over nominal capacity it has depleted reserves in broken ore.

2. The Sun's correspondent at Stewart to-day wires that except for necessary shutdowns for machinery repair, the mill is still operating steadily, treating 1,000 tons of ore daily and producing concentrates to the value of about $800 a day.

3. The company has cleaned up its debt to the bank and owes no money, but its treasury is practically bare. An unknown amount of money is due from smelter returns. If it should amount to more than $25,000, as the management hopes, mining may be resumed on the Ben All claim.

4. The Dunwell and Sunbeam veins have been disappointments. The Ben All vein is promising, but the company has not funds to develop it and block out a supply of ore that would assure a definite term of operation.

5. It is concluded that the mill was built too soon and that the company was insufficiently financed to carry on mining well in advance of mill requirements. Profit from milling was lower than had been expected. Dunwell's calculations of a year or two ago W. J. Derby of The Mail and Empire having been on the basis of silver, lead and zinc prices prevailing then. All these metals have declined in value since that time, and in the aggregate Dunwell's smelter, returning to-day, would be more than thirty per cent below expectations of a year or two ago.

6. Transhipment and other handling expenses for Dunwell concentrate on its way to smelter, due to heating of the sulphide material, have raised the cost of shipping Dunwell concentrates above first expectations.

TRIBUTE PAID BY MANY AT FUNERAL

Body of W. J. Wilkinson Laid to Rest in Toronto Cemetery

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Many prominent Canadian newspapermen attended the funeral of the late W. J. Wilkinson, for many years news editor of The Toronto Mail and Empire, which was held this afternoon from the family residence to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. W. McMillan of Chalmers Presbyterian Church and the honorary pallbearers were J. S. Douglas, W. F. Macleagan, Hector Charlesworth, Frank Morley, William Orer, A. F. Keith, Arthur Wallis, Stewart Lyon, J. E. Atkinson, Harry Anderson, Donald McKinnon, C. L. Clarke, Dr. J. B. Cullen, Thomas Blacklock, W. A. Hewitt, and Dr. W. P. Williams.

The pallbearers were C. A. Jennings, George Scroggie, J. B. Hanna, M. B. McDonald, E. Allen, Arthur Lewis, W. J. Derby of The Mail and Empire staff and J. F. B. Livesey, general manager of the Canadian Press.

The funeral was attended also by a large representation from the Local Council of Women, of which Mrs. Wilkinson is vice-president.

Vitamin A is Shown as Foe of Kidney Stones

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

One of the most painful and serious conditions that attacks mankind is the formation of stones in the kidneys. If the stones are small or if portions of larger stones break loose and begin to pass down the passages, they may cause blocking with serious symptoms and almost unendurable pain.

Unfortunately, neither the cause nor the mechanism of formation of these stones is as yet clearly understood. Apparently, mineral salts tend to deposit and form the stones. Under some conditions, if the body fluids become abnormal, the mineral constituents may clump together and form stones.

Occasionally bacteria form the central substances around which the mineral salts deposit in forming a stone.

Some years ago it was shown that animals fed on diets deficient in vitamin "A" tend to develop stones in the kidneys and in the gallbladder.

A prominent physician asserted that if such animals are fed increasing amounts of cream, butter, cod liver oil, and other food rich in vitamin "A" the stones tend to disappear.

The diagnosis of the presence of stones in the kidney may be made in some instances by the X-ray, since the stone is solid material.

Taking of Oaths Debated in Ireland

Dublin, Oct. 3.—A keen controversy has arisen in Ireland over the bishop's pastoral letter, insisting on the sanctity of oaths, which was read in all Roman Catholic churches yesterday.

The question debated is whether the letter was meant to apply to happenings in connection with the trial when Eamon de Valera and other Fianna Fail deputies took the oath and their seats after deciding to regard the oath as an empty formality.

It is believed by many the letter was intended to apply to perjury, which has become a disquieting feature in the law courts, and that the pastoral letter was drafted before Valera and his followers took office.

Bishop McCorry of Down and Connor said to-day the pastoral letter

Rev. T. C. Williams Died in Welsh Town

Menai Bridge, Wales, Oct. 3.—Rev. Thomas Charles Williams, minister of the Welsh Presbyterian Church here, died yesterday.

Thomas Charles Williams was a member of a family who had been ministers from father to son for more than 100 years. He preached often in London and in the leading English churches. He preferred to carry on his ministry in this little town of North Wales, rather than accept calls to English and Welsh churches in the big towns. He had traveled extensively, both in Great Britain and America. He was Moderator of the General Assembly in 1921-22.

WRECKAGE OF PLANE STUDIED BY EXPERTS

Loss of Old Glory in Atlantic Believed Result of Low Flying

New York, Oct. 3.—A technical study of the wreckage to determine the cause of the crash of the Fokker monoplane Old Glory at sea, carrying three men to their deaths, has been submitted by aviation experts to William Randolph Hearst, backer of the ill-fated transatlantic flight.

The report, submitted by Hector Alexander, former chief mechanic of the United States army air mail service and one of the Old Glory's crew of ground experts, said the plane's Bristol Jupiter motors did not fail. Bent landing struts in the wreckage indicated the plane hit the water at a high rate of speed, the report said, adding that the airmen may have been flying low to prevent ice from forming on the wings of the plane.

The plane took off from Maine September 5 and on the morning of September 7 disappeared in the ocean after flashing an SOS. A searching vessel found the part of the plane's wreckage several days later.

CANADIAN HISTORY

IN RECENT YEARS THE ASSOCIATION of Canadian Clubs, which, of course, includes both men's and women's organizations, has done a good deal of useful work among our own people by getting them to take a keener interest in their own country, particularly its history, its expanding position among the nations of the world, and the influential role it is destined to play in the future. At the Association's annual convention in Ottawa recently Mr. Graham Spry, the national secretary, presented a report in which he described his interviews with professors of history, school teachers and others in the various provinces, recalling also that a number of professors had met at Ottawa and had applied themselves to this particular subject. It now has been decided to submit a questionnaire to selected professors, school teachers, and writers of history, to obtain certain information covering the teaching of history in schools from grade one to grade eight, and in high schools, normal schools and universities. Mr. Spry says in his report:

The information requested included hours per week in the different grades, the text-books, methods of teaching, comparison with other history taught, type of examination held, prizes awarded, and the interest shown by the pupils.

These questionnaires were several times re-written and corrected and have now been prepared for the printer. From this means, supplemented by interviews with and memoranda from various teachers, it is expected to secure a very complete and thorough survey of the whole position of teaching history in every type of educational institution in the Dominion. As well, it is hoped also to ascertain the position of the teaching of Canadian history in Great Britain and the United States.

Much time and considerable effort will be required to complete the survey. The amount of correspondence alone will be great, and the final collection of the material will require several skilled experts. The conference, therefore, is warned not to expect a report too quickly. The object is to make the report as thorough as possible and to base the results on documents and accurate information. This cannot be accomplished in a hurry.

The value of such a survey cannot be doubted and the committee therefore recommends: That this report on the investigation of the teaching of Canadian history be adopted; and that the National Council be requested to complete the survey.

And further that this association go on record as favoring the teaching of Canadian history and congratulating the Canadian clubs and other organizations which encourage the study of Canadian history by offering prizes.

Canadian history should be one of the basic subjects of our school curriculum. It is true that in recent years an improvement has been noticed in this regard; but evidently there still is a good deal to be desired when an organized campaign on the matter is considered necessary. The story of Canada unfolded at the Diamond Jubilee celebrations last July, as The Manitoba Free Press reminds us, proved as fascinating as it was with romance, color, heroism, and countless enterprise. It is all well and good that Canadian youth should know something of other countries and the notable figures associated with their histories; but it is vital that they should be told as much as there is to be told about Canada's glorious achievements. Pride of country in the individual is a national asset of first importance. It is an effective antidote to the allurements of other lands.

BETTER IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

ALTHOUGH THE STATISTICS prepared for the Canadian Tuberculosis Association by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that there was a general increase in the number of deaths from tuberculosis last year compared with 1925, it is gratifying to note that in British Columbia, and in Ontario as well, the 1926 figures showed an improvement over those of the preceding year.

It is fair to assume that the better showing in this Province is due to some extent at least to the educational policy which the provincial Board of Health has carried out during the last few years. This has consisted of easily understood literature and the employment of a travelling medical practitioner who has made chest diseases his special study. It has been possible for this official to get into touch with incipient cases, discuss them with the sufferer's medical adviser, and generally to devise ways and means of promptly arresting the progress of the malady. It is a humanitarian work and the Legislature should be ready to vote more money for its expansion.

THE CONSERVATIVES AND TARIFFS

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS AND political gossips at Ottawa are beginning to prepare the public for some of the changes which the Conservative Party of Canada is expected to make in its platform at the Winnipeg convention. They do not suggest that there is any likelihood of any extensive departure from the vital protective principle; but they are convinced that there will be nothing like a rigid adherence to the national policy of 1878.

Mr. Charles Bishop, a veteran of the Press Gallery in the House of Commons, says it is not the purpose to change anything fundamental, "but to apply to the fiscal policy a measure of elasticity." He does not profess to know how far this will succeed, taking into consideration the weighty influence which the high tariff elements in the Party usually are able to exert, "but from all accounts, the rigid protectionist sentiment is due to encounter attempts of some measure of modification."

It will not be surprising, of course, if some gesture of this kind is made as part of the strategy upon which the Party is relying to make a conquest in the prairie provinces; but it is difficult to see how the conflicting elements within its own ranks are going to agree upon a deal that will impress the low tariff farmer, or one that it would be prepared to implement with legislation in the event of its success at the polls on the next occasion. It looks as if it would be a much more formidable task to reach an agreement in this regard than it will be to choose a new leader, in itself no simple undertaking in view of all the circumstances.

It is plain to see that recent international pronouncements on international barriers to the free interchange of trade and commerce are having their effect on even the hide-bound protectionists. In this regard it is interesting to note some comments by Mr. Hugh F. Spender, in a recent issue of The Fortnightly Review, dealing with the International Economic Conference at Geneva. He declares that the resolutions were so decisively on the side of Free Trade that one could not believe the advocates of tariffs remained unshaken by the course of the debate. "They could scarcely have otherwise declared," he proceeds, "that the return to the effective liberty of international trading was one of the primary conditions of world prosperity, or that the experience of the years since the war had proved that import and export prohibitions, arbitrary practices and disguised discriminations had produced deplorable results by hampering the normal play of competition, and that it was therefore important for the recovery of trade that governments should forthwith abandon an economic policy which was injurious to the interests, both of their own and other nations." From this point he goes on:

Again, the Protectionists appeared to be hoist with their own petard when they assented to the proposition in favor of a return to a more reasonable tariff policy, and condemned the idea that the effects of the disorganization of industry and the inflated currencies which followed from the war could be corrected by tariffs. Moreover, the theory that tariffs should be used as combative weapons to extract concessions in lowering of hostile customs duties was thrown overboard, which was not the least of the remarkable results achieved by the Conference when one considers how wedded the Protectionists are to aggressive methods. That he should have consented to consider not only the dropping of his favorite weapons, but also have submitted to the order "to move in an opposite direction," is a striking tribute to the force of the argument.

It will be recalled that a number of influential newspapers and reviews in the United States dealt exhaustively with the resolutions passed at Geneva and the prediction has been freely made that at no distant date the republic will have to readjust its tariff policy if its trade with Europe is to be maintained and increased. In these matters, of course, Canada is vitally interested and, as a Party aspiring to power, the Conservative Party obviously recognizes that it must so regard them.

B.C.'S NEW PREMIER

From The Prince Rupert Daily News

Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier of British Columbia, seems to have suddenly jumped into a position of popularity in this Province. He set out by carrying on in a modest and retiring manner without in any way usurping the honors which were due the late Premier, as soon as he had got his hands on the reins, he was called upon to defend his position, which he did at New Westminster with good results. He did not sit up and cower over this but modestly thanked the people for their trust and went back to his job. Now he is taking up the work, and making no mistakes. He has had many years of training as minister of education and provincial secretary and the premiership comes to him as naturally as would any other ministerial position. The outlook for his carrying on successfully seems bright.

JOTS FROM GEOGRAPHY

THE GULF is a round vicer boat that was popular on the rivers of the "Fertile Crescent" 5,000 years ago, and is still the most used means of conveyance on the waterways of the East. Its milky-blue-gray color adds a touch of fantasy to the muddy rivers, especially when filled with bright colored fruits and vegetables. The gulf is often used for passenger service to and from passing steamers.

CANADA SPENDING BIG SUMS TO GET BRITISH SETTLERS

But Continentals Are Anxious to Come Without Government Advertising

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—"I have replied to the statement made at the synd. I have stated that I shall be pleased to see the delegation appointed by the synd. I do not see there is anything more to be said just now."

This was the reply made by Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, to further charges made by Canon Burd of Saskatchewan regarding the Government's immigration policy.

"When the delegation comes I shall be glad to tell them anything they ask. They may examine the departmental records for themselves," added Mr. Forke.

With reference to statements made about British immigration, Mr. Forke merely alluded to a former statement he made some time ago, before the synd met, that the policy of the department was to keep British immigration predominant over all others.

Immigration officials here pointed out that the charge that British immigration was being discriminated against was absurd. Thousands of dollars were being spent in Great Britain to get immigration, while on the continent there was not a cent, except the salaries of the officials who visited the passports.

They pointed to the family scheme, the assisted passages, boy settlement and other plans, all of which had for their sole objective the bringing out of British settlers to Canada.

"There are no restrictions on British, but you cannot force people to come," it was said.

"With a hole in the top like my daddy's please," was the prompt reply.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 3.—Seven unmasked men, armed with revolvers, sawed-off shotguns and a machine gun, renewed the wave of daylight robberies here on Saturday by staging one of the most spectacular bank holdups in the city's history, escaping with between $3,500 and $5,000 in currency and silver.

While the South Broadway branch of the Merchants' National Bank was filled with customers seeking to transact business before the closing at noon, six men, rushing forward under cover of a machine gun mounted on a tripod in an expensive stolen automobile, cowed employees and patrons while bills and silver were scooped into satchels.

Five employees on duty were forced to lie down in the rear of the bank while customers numbering fifty or more were herded into a corner. One of the robbers stood in the doorway with a sawed-off shotgun, with which he menaced the shrinking customers.

Another robber remained in the automobile behind the machine gun mounted in such a way that it commanded the street.

Other members of the gang scooped up all the money in sight.

As the gang rushed out of the door, R. C. Elliott, manager of the bank, was seized by a revolver-wielding robber. The heavy machine, left at fast speed along Broadway.

No trace of the men has been found.

W. M. IVEL WILL SPEAK ON VICTORIA'S SHIPPING INDUSTRY

Wards One and Two of the Victoria Liberal Association will meet tonight in the Association Club Rooms at Government and Broughton Streets at 8 o'clock. Following the ward business, which will conclude about 8.30, W. M. WOMAN CLIMBER SET RECORDS ON JAPANESE PEAKS

Dr. Cora J. Best, Accompanied by Miss A. F. Shipman, Back From Far East

Ascended Fujiyama, Northern Alps and Mt. Aso; Has no Use For China

Weak from an illness suffered in China, yet full of enthusiasm about her recent climbing exploits in the Far East, Dr. Cora J. Best, famous woman adventurer, author and lecturer of Minneapolis, Minn., arrived here yesterday afternoon aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia.

Accompanied by Miss A. F. Shipman, Dr. Best has recently climbed most of the notable peaks both in Japan and the Philippines, having set several records in the Northern Alps of Japan.

"Tired of afternoon teas," six months ago, Dr. Best set out from here with the avowed intention of hunting in Manchuria with bows and arrows. But they returned without the bows and arrows.

"They took them from us," she said, when interviewed aboard the Empress of Asia. "We sneaked into Manchuria all right, I and my friend Audrey Forfar Shipman, and we sneaked out again—but what a country!"

"The Chinese thought the arrows were poisoned and they thought we were spies. We were lucky to get out alive. What a country! I'd never have gone in there at all if I had known as much about it as I do now."

DISGUISED AS EAST INDIANS "We knew it would be dangerous traveling in the interior, but we didn't know the half of it. Why, they would as soon kill a foreigner as look at him. And who would know the difference? Who could trace him or see what had happened to him if he disappeared?"

"As I said, we knew it would be dangerous. So we disguised ourselves as East Indians, darkened our skins, wore boys' caps, boys' clothes. And in that way we traveled across the frontier in a railway box car, we two women alone with a crowd of men—soldiers—bandits or whatever you want to call them."

FILTH EVERYWHERE "But what a country! The water—terrible! And the ground—filth everywhere. For three days I went without water because I knew it was death to drink it. It was too much for me. I was taken ill. We started back. How we got out I don't know. I had a 48 automatic strapped to my belt and that helped. That's the kind of argument that gets you through China."

"Miss Shipman assured me through, somehow, for forty-eight hours I lay concealed in the bottom of a boat on a mud bank. Finally we were safe—aboard a Japanese ship at Port Arthur."

"Good-bye, China! If I never see China again that will be a million years too soon!"

INDIA NEXT Dr. Best says her next field of endeavor will be India where she hopes to do considerable climbing and hunting. At present she is on her way to Minneapolis where her lecture tour commences November 1.

Dr. Best is back from her Oriental tour bearing the climbing pin of the Japanese climbing club, her feat in Japan including the ascent of Mount Aso on the island of Kuzo while it was a record breaking ascent of the Northern Alps, and the climbing of Mount Aso on the island of Kuzo while it was a record breaking ascent of the Northern Alps, and the climbing of Mount Aso on the island of Kuzo while it was a record breaking ascent of the Northern Alps.

FUJIYAMA IN WINTER Fujiyama was climbed in the winter and taking the steep side in order to avoid the freezing wind which was blowing, the little party composed of Dr. Best, Miss Shipman and guides, were forced to veritably hack their way to the top. Fujiyama is seldom reached in the winter and its ascent is considered much of a feat at the time of year. Before the party had reached the top, the guide indicated they would be unable to make the ascent, but Dr. Best persevered without the guide, however, and after cutting three or four hundred steps in the ice, the summit was finally reached.

Later, she said she had passed over a fissure in the mountain which at the time was covered by ice. If this had fallen through, "we would have been gone," she said.

Dr. Best and her companion started their tour at the northern extremity of Japan, climbing first to the top of the mountain, and then to the summit of the Japanese climbing club, they broke three records in this district. Later she ascended to the top of the little mountain on the way south, prize money the view from the ascent.

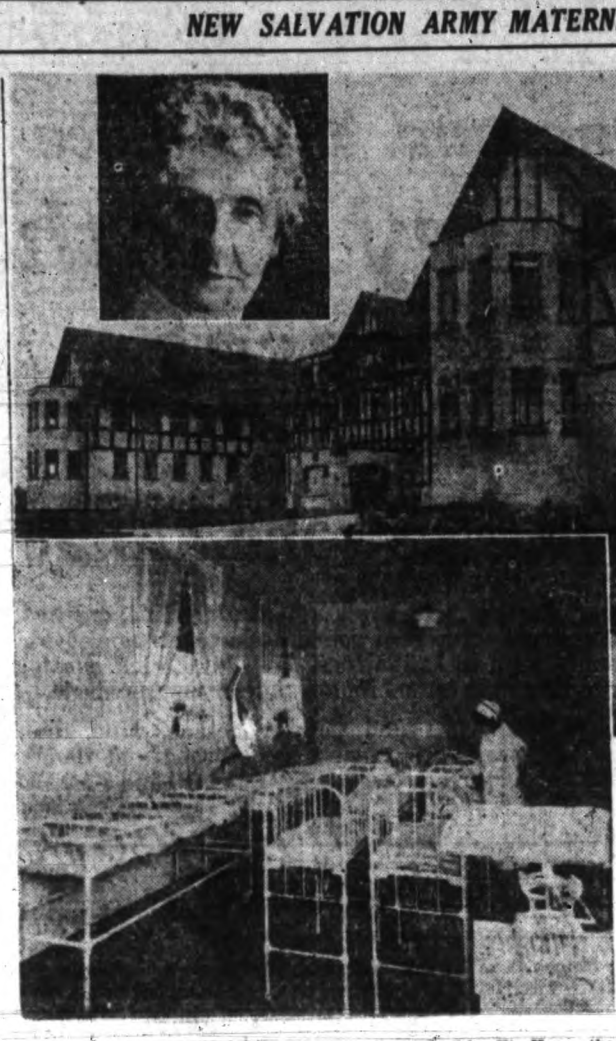

IN VOLCANO CRATER After leaving Japan proper and going to the island of Kuzo, one of the most thrilling climbs was enjoyed. This was the ascent of Mount Aso, which has one of the largest, oldest, and most active volcanoes in the world. Ten days before Dr. Best and her companion arrived, the inner crater started to erupt and they climbed the mountain and took pictures of the inner crater in a rain of mud. Upon finally leaving the mountain they were terrible looking specimens of humanity, Dr. Best said.

While on Aso, Dr. Best and Miss Shipman have the experience of watching Japanese commit suicide. A minute after Miss Shipman had put away her moving picture camera, three men walked up to the edge of the crater, carrying an umbrella, presumably for balance. Much to the intense surprise and horror of the two women, they threw themselves into the boiling lava and disappeared.

OUTER CRATER RICH In the outer crater of Mount Aso, all is flourishing, Dr. Best declared. There are 8,000 people scattered among the fields and the growth of the rice is marvelous. It is the only place naturally fertilized in Japan.

In the Philippines, the pair climbed Mount Mariveles, in itself hardly a difficult ascent, but dangerous owing to the nature of the forests on its slopes.

The marriage took place on September 23 at St. Andrew's Cathedral, of Jessie Henrietta Smythe and Edward Frederick Johnson, both of Victoria. Rev. Father Evans performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at 2704 Belmont Avenue.

The engagement is announced of Miss Helen Maude Wilson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Victoria, and Mr. William Ritsch, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ritsch of Yale Street, Oak Bay. The wedding will take place at the Oak Bay United Church, October 19, at 8 p.m.

The Equilateral Liberal Association will hold a whist drive this evening at 8 o'clock in the headquarters, Equilateral Road. The meeting scheduled for to-morrow evening has been postponed until October 11.

NEW SALVATION ARMY MATERNITY HOME

HON. R. R. BRUCE OPENS SALVATION ARMY HOSPITAL

Ceremony Sunday at Well-equipped Maternity Home in Vancouver

In the presence of a large and representative crowd of British Columbia citizens, including leading businessmen and social leaders of the lower mainland, Hon. R. R. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, formally opened Grace Hospital, the Salvation Army's fine modern institution at Vancouver, Sunday.

The Lieutenant-Governor, in accepting the keys of the institution from Mrs. Rich, wife of Commissioner Rich, leader of Army forces in Western Canada, expressed his keen appreciation of the benefits accruing to this Province from the Women's Social Work of the Salvation Army.

The new hospital is a three-story structure of Tudor design and cost more than $150,000 to construct and equip. The foundation fund of $110,000 was established last November when approximately 500 Greater Vancouver businessmen conducted a ten-day finance drive.

Before the formal opening the hospital was examined by a large committee of Greater Vancouver's medical profession, and unanimously they declared the new institution to be one of the best equipped for maternity practice on the continent. While every economy compatible with efficiency has been practiced in the establishment of the hospital, no labor or expense has been spared, officials say, in obtaining the most modern scientific equipment for operating rooms, sterilizing rooms and diet department that could be secured.

The hospital will be in charge of Lieut.-Col. Louise Payne as superintendent. Mrs. Payne is noted, particularly in mid-western Canada, as one of the most highly experienced women in her profession. As superintendent of the famous Grace Hospital at Winnipeg for fifteen years, she is credited with having brought that institution to its present high state of efficiency.

Already Mrs. Payne has received numerous applications for accommodation of patients from Greater Vancouver medical men. With a total capacity of seventy beds, the hospital is well equipped with private and semi-private wards, and these as well as the public wards are bright and cheerful to a marked degree.

The Victoria Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League of Canada will hold a bridge and five hundred party in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 906 Government Street, on Wednesday evening, October 5, at 8:30 o'clock. Victoria Man Is Wed at Alert Bay Ceremony

A charming wedding took place at Christ Church, Alert Bay, recently when Miss Muriel Elizabeth McAulay, only daughter of Mr. J. Wilmer McAulay of Prince Rupert, became the bride of Mr. Charles Edward Etherington, youngest son of Mrs. M. Etherington of Victoria. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Cumley.

Given in marriage by Mr. Milo Chambers, the bride wore a white chiffon tulle frock, fashioned in a bouffant style with hand-painted rosebuds outlined in silver. Her wedding veil of Brussels lace was arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried Ophelia roses. The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Kinney of Victoria, was attired in pink and gold shot tulle, her imported hat being of chiffon felt to match. She carried mauve and pink asters. Miss Lorraine Ashby as bridesmaid was frocked in bands of silver leaves, her flowers being pink asters.

Miss Beverly Chambers and Miss Gloria Ashby as flower girls wore frocks of peach bloom crepe de Chine and wore bandeaux of silver leaves. They carried baskets of pink and white sweet peas. The groom was attended by Mr. W. Ashby, while ushers were Mr. Fred Wastell, Mr. Harley Burgess and Mr. Kenneth Bishop. Bridal music was provided by Mrs. Richard Felton, while during the signing of the register Mrs. S. V. H. Redman sang "O Promise Me."

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Milo Roy Chambers, sister of the groom. Autumn-shaded flowers being used as decorations. The bridal party received guests under a floral arch centred with a wedding bell. Silver sconces with pink tapers were used on the tea table, where a four-leaf wedding cake was the centerpiece. Guests were received by Mrs. Milo Chambers, attired in a French gown of rose georgette, hand-painted in mauve and silver tones. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Etherington, wearing a poudre blue gown.

Mr. and Mrs. Etherington later on a honeymoon to Victoria, and later will visit the bride's parents in Prince Rupert. The bride wore her traveling ensemble costume of blue tulle with hat to match, and fur coat, the gift of the groom.

YOUR BABY and MINE by MRS. METER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

Mrs. H. V. H. writes: "My baby, three-and-one-half months old, weighs nearly thirteen pounds. He is well, fat and happy and never has a touch of colic. One thing worries me, his hands are almost always cold and at times both hands and feet look dark purple and blotchy."

"Is this a symptom of poor circulation, and if so what can I do to correct it? He breathes fast and gets orange juice."

"My oldest boy two-and-one-half weighs thirty-two pounds and seems perfectly well and rosy-cheeked. But it is almost impossible to get him to eat. He only pecks at the food I prepare for him. I will greatly appreciate your advice on these two questions."

ANSWER—Usual, when a child's hands and feet are cold it is indicative of too few clothes. Children have so little exercise that they chill easily. Perhaps you are war-blooded and you have your house too cold for the little chap. If there is really anything wrong with his circulation massage daily would help some. I am sure. But I have an idea it is just too few clothes.

AN IRRITATING COUGH water, and covering this with a dry cloth, and the doctor not to continue the use of cough medicines for a long time. Most of them contain a sedative that should not be continued over long periods as they are usually very upsetting to the stomach. Giving cough medicines every time the baby begins to hack at night is a bad habit. Sometimes these annoying coughs can be stopped by wrapping the baby's neck in a cloth wrung out of cold water, and covering it with a dry cloth. This is soothing and harmless.

YOUNG PIANIST'S GIVEN OVATION

Miss Margaret Campbell
Enthusiastically Received by Musical Club

It was an happy inspiration which led the Ladies' Musical Club to open their winter season with a programme by Miss Margaret Campbell, the gifted young pianist who is leaving shortly for New York to resume her studies. The popularity of the choice may be gauged by the attendance, nearly 500 members and prospective members filling the new Gordon Amphion Hall on Saturday afternoon for the matinee musicale.

It is nearly a year since Miss Campbell appeared on the concert platform under the club's auspices, and those who heard her on that occasion and were privileged to hear her again on Saturday realized the close application and sheer hard work which the young pianist has brought to her studies in the interim. On the excellent foundation which she laid under the careful teaching of Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green (Mrs. Huntley) she has built up a super-structure of pearly technique, suavity of tone, and a more mature interpretative sense, and great things may be expected of her when she has finished her studies under Wittgenstein, her New York teacher.

Her carefully chosen programme ranged through the old and modern composers, Chopin, Liszt, Bach, Saint-Saens, Debussy and Scarlatti being among them. Enthusiastic applause, which swelled to an ovation at the close, greeted the young artist, a large number of beautiful floral tributes being further token of the audience's appreciation.

TEA SERVED
At the close of the recital tea was served under the convenship of Mrs. W. G. Wilson. Mrs. F. G. Aldous and her committee were responsible for the artistic floral decoration of the hall and tea tables.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron, the president, who welcomed the guests, announced that the next matinee musicale would take place on Wednesday, October 19, when Miss Irene Bick, violinist, and a Russian singer from Seattle will be the artists.

The club is indebted to J. A. Griffith, who lent the Gordon Amphion Hall for the afternoon, and to Fletcher Brothers, who lent the Steinway piano used by Miss Campbell.

The officers and executive of the club for the coming year are as follows: Mrs. J. O. Cameron, president; Mrs. Brian Drake, first vice-president; Mrs. D. E. Campbell, second vice-president; Mrs. F. G. Aldous, secretary; Mrs. R. Nash, treasurer; Mrs. H. Robertson, Mrs. F. D. Brae, Mrs. D. B. McConn, Mrs. G. A. Bucklin, Mrs. F. Leeder, Mrs. G. Hicks, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Mrs. W. O. Wilson and Mrs. S. MacLure.

between breakfast and supper with ease, she continued and after four days in the ascent, she explained, having been caught in forests where bloodsuckers, pythons and other tropical dangers delayed them.

CANADA BEST
Dr. Best has many notable climbing feats to her credit in many parts of the world. She enjoys the thrill of climbing and does it purely from the love of adventure. There is no place in the world to compare with the mountains of Canada for sheer beauty and sportsmanship, she declared yesterday.

"I come back from the Orient appreciating still more the beauty of scenery and living in this country," she added. In the Orient, you may not drink from a mountain stream for fear of disease in the water. You cannot lie upon the ground for fear of bloodsuckers, insects and dangerous animals. Among Dr. Best's awards for climbing in Canada are the pins of the Canadian Alpine Club, of the Canadian National Parks Association, and the 2,500-mile button of the Trail Riders of the Rockies.

Sooke W.J. Held Social Evening

Metchoin, Oct. 3.—A delightful social evening was spent in the Metchoin Hall on Friday night, when a concert and dance was held under the auspices of the Metchoin Women's Institute. A very attractive programme of entertainment was opened by the Sooke Quartette, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Stacey, Easton and Mr. Taylor. Their first number, "Trust Her Not," gave evident pleasure and for an encore they responded with "Sweet and Low." Mrs. Pennington gave several pleasing numbers as also did Mrs. F. A. Pearce, both vocalists being accorded hearty applause and responding with encores. Mr. Stacey in a solo number sang "The Floral Dance," following up with "Three Jolly Sailors" as an encore, and the duet "Until" by Messrs. Stacey and Taylor greatly pleased the audience. Mrs. Taylor acted as accompanist for the Sooke artists, the whole quartette again appearing in well-known numbers.

H. C. Helgesen made a genial and most efficient chairman and a vote of thanks to the visiting artists and also to the Sooke Quartette was moved by Rev. H. M. Bolton and seconded by A. D. Ellwood and passed enthusiastically by the gathering.

Supper was served by members of the Women's Institute, the committee including Mrs. Saltmarsh, Mrs. W. Witty, Mrs. A. C. McVicker and Mrs. A. Taylor. Dancing was carried on with great spirit to the latest dance music supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schofield of Victoria.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A pretty wedding took place Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Emily Elizabeth Lamb was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Henderson by Mr. Smart of Okanagan Gospel Hall. The bride was handsome in her wedding dress of sand flat crepe, trimmed with orange and red, and with a corsage bouquet of carnations and roses. Her only attendant was Miss Margaret Banks, dressed in powder blue crepe de Chine with large picture hat of the same shade and carrying a shower bouquet of carnations and roses. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. J. Munroe and the groom was supported by Mr. J. Henderson. During the signing of the register vocal solos were rendered, Mrs. Cary singing "In the Garden of Happiness" and Mrs. Sims, "At Dawning," accompanied by Miss Irene Crouch. After the ceremony a reception was held, the bride and groom receiving the good wishes of their many friends. The reception room was beautifully decorated with asters and dahlias, arranged by friends of the bride. A buffet supper was served from a prettily-appointed table, centred with the wedding-cake. Many beautiful gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left their honeymoon trip to spend their honeymoon in Vancouver and the Sound cities. The bride traveled in a dress of sand crepe de Chine and grey coat trimmed with squirrel and hat of rosewood plush and corded silk. Upon their return they will take up their residence at 643 Johns Street.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF BRITAIN MEETS

Premier Baldwin to Address Thousands at Cardiff Thursday

Cardiff, Oct. 3 (Canadian Press Cable).—Cardiff this week will welcome 2,500 delegates to the annual convention of the Conservative Party of Great Britain.

For various reasons this year's convention promises to be unusually interesting and one of the high spots will be Premier Stanley Baldwin's address on Thursday, when he is to speak to a meeting of 7,000 and an overflow meeting of another 3,000 persons. The Ministry is nearing the end of its third year and in that period has encountered a wealth of industrial and social troubles at home and a variety of momentous problems abroad.

An influential section of the nominally Conservative press has for some time manifested general discontent in which more than a trace of personal hostility to Premier Baldwin has been exhibited. Under these circumstances it is not surprising the party is assembling under shadow of the "Irish Question." Even more anxiety is shown concerning the party's attitude towards the question of House of Lords reform and extension of women's suffrage. The Government is definitely pledged to both of these movements.

Concerning the House of Lords, four weeks will elapse virtually indefinitely from the postponement of reform on the other hand, Lord Selborne, former Cabinet Minister will submit a motion for amendment of the Parliament Act, which would necessarily involve reform of upper House. The Cabinet's intention as already proclaimed is to introduce a measure modifying the hereditary character of the House of Lords.

The Government, however, has no intention of staking its existence upon these reform proposals, which consequently may prove still-born.

Putney and Dorset will oppose the extension of votes for women—lowering of age limit from thirty to twenty-one years—both believing that if men's votes were granted only at twenty-five years it would be a better age for the enfranchisement of both sexes.

Conservative delegates from the industrial districts will uphold the Government's policy, probably because in such centres women come into contact with the hard facts of existence at an earlier age.

JOYNSON-HICKS' ATTITUDE
The opposition to the Government's proposals, expected at the convention, was alluded to by Sir William Joynton-Hicks, Secretary, in a speech last night. He declared this opposition had been stated by a few newspapers in the south, "to their discredit."

"Short skirts or long skirts, who is to say the woman of twenty-one does not know as much about politics as a boy of the same age?" he asked. "The Conservative Party is nothing if not democratic."

The Minister added: "The Premier is pledged to the hit and I am also pledged and neither is going to climb down."

ONTARIO DEATH

Owen Newton of this city, charged with forgery, will appear on remand in city police court Wednesday morning. J. B. Clearhouse, counsel for the defendant, has entered no plea. It is the allegation of the prosecution that Newton raised a cheque from $50 to $500, and attempted to cash the forged document. Newton is a young man, just over twenty-one years of age, according to Chief of Police John Fry who, with detectives, arrested the accused last week.

Janitors Shocked as They Find "Remains" of Woman in Grounds of Parliament Square

Reports that a beautifully-gowned woman had been murdered in the grounds of the Parliament Buildings brought night watchmen, janitors and policemen rushing to the scene of the crime last night. In the shrubbery near the west wing they were shocked at the discovery of a woman, apparently dead or dying. Feeling her pulse, they could detect no sign of life and efforts to revive her failed. Two brawny janitors carried her inside the building where, in the light, they discovered that the object of their anxiety was a cleverly-made dummy. The unfortunate dummy ended its brief existence propped up in an obscure corner of the buildings. In this position it started early arrivals at their offices.

Amateur detective work has failed so far to place responsibility for the hoax.

SOUSA TELLS GYROS OF HIS EXPERIENCES

Famous Musician Makes Clubmen Laugh at His Humorous Stories

Dr. John Phillip Sousa, internationally known musician and leader of the band which bears his name and which has played in all parts of the world, was the guest of the Gyro Club at their luncheon to-day at the Chamber of Commerce. He proved a wonderful after-dinner speaker and had the Gyros in fits of laughter for half an hour.

Dr. Sousa told the Gyros of some of his experiences in England, Johannesburg, St. Petersburg, New York and other parts of the globe. He had a wealth of jokes and had a great way of telling them.

Dr. Sousa described the time when his father, who was an Englishman, advised him to visit England and see how they ate an egg. The opportunity came and the composer went to a restaurant and saw, as he says, "an artistic exhibition of eating an egg as I have ever seen."

The composer was introduced to the Gyro Club through the kindness of his friend, when in America, to visit him at his long island home. The Englishman paid the visit and Sousa thought that he was to see a "real artistic exhibition," but to his dismay the visitor dumped "the eggs into a coffee cup and ate it in the horrible manner the Americans do."

John Alexander was elected to membership in the club.

The directors of the club will meet to-night at 6:45 o'clock at the club-rooms.

He states the claim of Twelve Australian and two Irish descendants have been admitted out of sixty-two applicants.

PARADE OF VISITORS VISIT SOLARIUM

Second Delegation Yesterday Interested in Work; Elks' Gift

Rotarians and their wives to the number of nearly forty journeyed up to the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay yesterday to acquaint themselves at first hand with the benefits accruing to the crippled children undergoing treatment. Dr. Cyril Wace received the delegation, which was headed by J. H. Fletcher, president, and Mrs. Fletcher, with Miss Stone, the superintendent, conducted them on a thorough tour of the Solarium, from the laundry in the basement to the new swimming pool on the edge of the sea.

At the end of the visit of inspection, in which the visitors chatted with the happy-looking youngsters, the party repaired to the recreation room to hear an informal talk by Dr. Wace on the aims and objects of the Solarium.

SPOKE TO WINNIPEG CLUB

Dr. Wace, who has just returned from Winnipeg, spoke to the enthusiastic interest displayed by the Rotary Club of that city in the Solarium and its mission among the crippled and sickly children of Canada. He expressed the hope that before long all the Rotary Clubs between the Coast and the prairies would be lending their sympathetic support to the project.

President Fletcher expressed the thanks of the Rotarians to Dr. Wace and Miss Stone for their courtesy and hospitality, and promised the sympathetic interest of the club in the welfare of the little patients, to whom they hoped to be Big Brothers indeed. Yesterday's visit was the second arranged by the Rotary Club, a party of about thirty making the journey last week.

TO-DAY'S RAINFALL IS UNUSUALLY HEAVY

The report in Saturday night's Times to the effect that 1927 was to date drier than usual seems to have been the last of its kind. Weather Man, for torrential rain set in on Sunday evening at about 8 o'clock and continued with unabated force until the time of going to press this afternoon. According to H. Napier Denison of Gonzales Heights Observatory, the rainfall from 8 a.m. Sunday to 2 o'clock to-day reached the total of 1.32 inches, a most unusually heavy fall for Victoria.

REVISION COURT CONTINUES WORK

Agents For Pioneer Estates Appeal on Value of Their Holdings

Appeals This Year Far Less Than Usual, Owing to Revision

Although there are some genuine problems before the city court of revision on the assessment roll for 1928 now in session, the number of appeals this year is considerably less than those filed any similar court in the past-war period, it is stated.

To-day the city heard appeals on the older established estates, including the pioneer property holdings in Victoria, in representations put forward by barristers and solicitors for these estates.

Mayors C. G. McPherson and Aldermen Marchant, H. O. Littlefield and John Harvey were present to-day at the sessions which continued in the School Board room.

The working of the city's new plan of assessment was explained to the appellants, showing the review of city values that will be carried out under scientific and modern principles within the next two years.

The interior portion of the city has already been covered, but the work has yet to be extended to the residential districts. The assessment roll for 1928 had to be struck in the middle of this year, it was explained, so that the benefits of the new plan could be made universal until the work is completed.

The Elks have been extended an invitation to visit the Solarium, and many members of the fraternal organization propose doing so in the near future.

YOUNG MAN'S CHANCE SAYS SENATOR KEMP OF TORY PROSPECTS

Sir Edward Here on Holiday; Not Active in Politics Now, He Asserts

Senator Sir Edward Kemp, who became noted on both sides of the Atlantic as Minister of Overseas Military Forces for Canada from 1917 until after demobilization, is in Victoria to-day.

Sir Edward is on a holiday tour of the West and declares that he is not on a political mission.

"I have retired from any active participation in politics," he said. "I believe the younger generation of the Conservative Party should come to the front. There is plenty of room for young blood."

Whether there would be any young blood coming to the front at the National Conservative convention at Winnipeg next week, or just who would likely choose the Conservative leader, Sir Edward would not say.

"There is lots of good material to choose a permanent party leader from here and there," he said. "The right man will be selected," the Senator said.

Sir Edward is known in the business world as being a heavy investor in real estate and aluminum in Toronto. As a citizen of Toronto he is known as former president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, past president of the Board of Trade and the owner of the historical Castle Frank residence. He has been active in politics since 1900 when he was elected to the House of Commons.

Lady Kemp is at the Empress Hotel with Sir Edward. They will leave here Tuesday afternoon for Vancouver.

ISLAND'S MINES SHOW INCREASE COAL OUTPUT

Total Production in Province For Eight Months Registers Advance

Output of coal by British Columbia collieries in the first eight months of this year aggregated 1,612,434 long tons compared with an output of 1,453,261 long tons in the corresponding period of 1926, an increase this year of 159,173 long tons. The figures for the eight months' period have just been compiled by the Provincial Department of Mines and issued by Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines.

While production during the last two or three months has been approximately the same as in the corresponding months a year ago, the long spell of cool weather in the early months of the year was chiefly responsible for the increased output over a year ago. Up to August collieries produced 860,240 long tons compared with 787,236 in 1926. The Nicola-Princeton district also showed an increased production aggregating 124,840 long tons compared with 104,496 tons in the first eight months of 1926. In the East Kootenay district production was 628,883 long tons this year as against 561,077 tons in 1926.

MUNICIPAL RALLY TAKES IN WESTERN CANADA PROVINCES

From Manitoba to Coast All Mayors and Reeves Invited to Victoria

Upwards of 150 invitations to the third annual convention of the Western Canada Development and Unity League, to be held in Victoria commencing October 20, have been sent out to the mayors, Reeves and chairmen of administration boards in the four western provinces, it was stated at the city hall to-day.

The organization was the outgrowth of an idea worked on by Mayor Louis D. Taylor, Vancouver, Mayor J. C. Penney, Victoria, and the Mayor of North Battleford. In its first and second years the group drew many delegates from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, but this year expects an almost unanimous representation.

Every Mayor and Reeve in British Columbia has been invited to the three-day gathering to convene here, and which will discuss municipal problems more from the standpoint of mutual co-operation in business fields than local affairs. Trade and commerce, agriculture, transportation and rates are some of the subjects that will be discussed.

Arrangements are being made under the direction of Mayor Taylor, Vancouver, president of the organization for the year. The furthest east municipal delegate will be Col. Ralph H. Webb, Mayor of Winnipeg, a consistent visitor to the Coast and an unofficial delegate to the conference of the group. From Victoria Island Mayors and Reeves have been circled to help in the reception of the visitors.

FIVE LOST LIVES IN FIRE IN BOSTON

Man, Wife and Their Three Children Victims of Blaze; Several Narrow Escapes

Boston, Oct. 3.—A fire in the Chinese section of this city early yesterday caused the deaths of five members of one family. Peter Haney, his wife, two children and an infant, were suffocated in their rooms on the third floor of a four-story building.

Toplit Zeaydy, was severely burned about the head and body before firemen rescued him from a third floor window.

Arthur Manary, another occupant of the third floor, jumped to the street before an alarm had been sounded. Although he suffered numerous cuts and bruises, he made his way to the nearest fire alarm box and tried to pull the hook, but failed. He called for help, but the streets were deserted and persons in the nearby houses were asleep.

Meantime Mrs. Dean Lawson, who lived on the second floor of the building, was awakened by the flames which burst into her bedroom. She roused her husband, mother and young daughter and they made their way down a fire escape.

Mrs. Lawson ran to the alarm box, but as she reached the box she was overcome by the excitement and collapsed.

SAVED FAMILY

Before the firemen arrived Eugene Rockham, who lives on the fourth floor, saw the flames and rushed to the stairs had fallen and Rockham thought the fire escape too dangerous because of the heat and flames from above. He was so afraid to descend that he hid in his room, waiting for himself over to the window of another building. His wife held the children out to him one by one and he swung them across to safety, finally lifting his wife across the gap between the two windows.

The Hanamys family apparently had not been warned until it was too late. Firemen found the bodies of father and two children in bed and the body of Mrs. Hanamy, with the body of the baby clasp in its arms, was found on the floor in the kitchen, where she slept, near her bed, indicating she had tried to escape but was overcome by the smoke.

A population of 40,000,000 people in this area of the world, perhaps a number representing half of the inhabitants of the United States, are seeing an outlet from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic. These states can not by themselves take action, since under the constitution Congress has the power to regulate commerce and navigation. As this problem is an international one, the task of the Federal Government is twofold, including, on the one hand, the necessary negotiations with Canada, and on the other the appropriations required for the joint enterprise.

POWER DEVELOPMENT

"In these days the building of dams to make possible ship canals gives also the chance to develop electric power. Thus the expenses of operating a great ship canal may be reduced. Twenty-two states which want an outlet to the sea are not directly interested in this project. It can be developed. I wish to make it clear that the navigation aspect is the primary object to be attained by the Federal government in this project. In view of the vast resources in the Northwest of Canada, still to be developed, my countrymen have thought likely Canada would have the same interest in this great project. We have asked our friend and neighbor to the North to consider joining with us in a discussion of waterways, and the end that such joint control would be repugnant to the Canadian sense

WORLD'S SERIES OPENS WEDNESDAY

Kremer and Hoyt Will Pitch In First Game

Pittsburgh to Use 200-pound Hurler, Who Says He Will Pitch to Ruth and Gehrig But Will Not Make It Easy for Them; Yankees Regarded as One of Greatest Teams of All Time, Favored to Win Series; Pirates Not Alarmed at Record of Yanks; Two of the Greatest and Most Colorful Outfields to Meet

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 3.—The moment that has carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to victory in one of the closest and most exciting races of National League history, plus the skill of a pitching corps that has performed brilliantly over the last month with few exceptions, will be the deciding factors, if the Corsairs are strong on the left side and the Yankees are strong on the right side.

There are not a few critics, even among the home town experts, who believe the Pirates "staggered" into the pennant, that the reaction of their hard fight will be a detriment rather than an aid and that the Yankees, anyway, pack entirely too much punch for the National League to check.

NOT AWED BY YANKS

Bush and his men are not over-confident. They do not underestimate the Yankees, avowed by the fact that the Pirates, coasting into their own pennant, are taking by many competitors as one of the greatest teams of all time, an outfit that will unquestionably enter the series favored to win by a majority of experts.

The Pirates are jaunty enough to believe that any club emerging at Pittsburgh, such as the Yankees, has had this year will take care of itself on any field.

The Yankee sluggers can be stopped, Bush declared. "That has been demonstrated before. Maybe we won't check them all but we will stop half of their attack and slow up the rest."

OPENING PITCHERS
Kremer, the 200-pound hurler ace from Oakland, Calif., is slated to twirl the opening game for the Pirates, with Waite Hoyt as a probable opponent.

"I'll pitch to Ruth and Gehrig," Kremer declared. "You can count on that. But I won't make it any easier for them than necessary."

This will be the first New York-Pittsburgh battle in history for premier baseball honors. Most of the Pirates have never seen the Yankees in action.

The rival camps of the Yankees and Pirates are both pitched to-day in Pittsburgh already aroused to high tension by the excitement of the National League race and eager to cheer the fighting young Corsairs in their tussle with the clouting circus from New York.

Additions to the stands at Forbes Field have increased the capacity of the park to accommodate 45,000 for the game. With more than 30,000 reserved seats already sold, there is every prospect of a sellout for the first two games here.

The six and seventh, if needed, will be fought out here.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 3.—Two of the greatest as well as the most colorful outfield trios in baseball will roam the outlying precincts for the Yankees and Pirates in the world's series.

The Yankees have the incomparable Babe Ruth, just finished earning his $70,000 salary by shattering his own American record, but the Pirates have the famous Wander Brothers, hitters and ball-hawks extraordinaire.

Paul Waner, in his second year as a big leaguer, is the National League's leading batsman with an official mark of 360 the leader in hits, triples and runs driven in. He has a record of twenty-two, and in his first year under the big top, has made a rare mark for a beginner, leading the league in runs scored, breaking the record for one base hit and establishing himself as the fastest man in the league on the bases.

PIRATES HOLD EDGE
Taking the two outfields as a whole the Pirates trio on the records, has a decided advantage, while the Yanks combination, chiefly due to Ruth, packs a much heavier long distance punch.

There is a basis for a merry argument over the rival right fielders, Paul Waner and Ruth. Paul has a twenty-three point edge on the Babe in straight hitting. He has also a bigger collection of doubles and triples to help offset the Yankees' superior slugging.

There is another margin in Paul's favor in fielding where he has nearly 100 more putouts and four times as many assists. Both are great "team" players, but Babe's all-round influence, his constant threat at bat and the prospect of breaking up a ball game on short notice can not be measured in figures. There is only one Ruth, all observers agree. This is the Babe Ruth, eighth year's series and Paul's first.

Earl Combs and Lloyd Waner, rival lead-off men, as well as centre fielders, are a close match. Combs has a better fielding mark.

MEUSEL BETTER
Were Kiki Cuyler, in the other outfield, post for the Pirates playing up to his 1924-25 form, the Pirates would be even stronger on the ramparts, but Kiki seems doomed to stay on the bench. Clyde Barnhart, holding down left field for the Pirates, is a reliable outfielder and batter, but not up to Bob Meusel, the strong armed, slugger Yankee guard of left, in the opinion of observers.

There is little to choose in the relative offensive and defensive strength of the Yankee and Pirate infield, although the American Leaguers hold perhaps a slight edge on form, such as is revealed by the latest official records.

Where the Pirates are strong on the left side with Olen Wright at short and Capt. "Pie" Traynor at third, the Yankees appear considerably stronger on the other side with Lou Gehrig at first and Tony Lazzeri second.

Traynor and Gehrig are the outstanding pair. The Pirate captain, generally rated the best third-baseman in the game, has a big margin over his veteran rival, Joe Dugan, in every department of play. Gehrig also has a record of achievement, especially at bat, that outshines the performance of Joe Harris.

The keystone combinations are pretty well matched, although Lazzeri and Mark Koenig, the Yankee pair, boast slightly better marks than George Grantham and Wright, both at bat and afield.

Batting Crown Once More Placed On Head Of Harry Heilmann

Detroit Slugger Finishes the Season With .399 and Leads Both Major Leagues

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Harry Heilmann's biennial batting championship series, begun in 1921, and extending through 1926, with a mark just one point short of the magic 400.

This year Heilmann won not only the crown of the American League, but the major leagues as well.

Heilmann's 399 mark for the season, was nineteen points ahead of the 380 mark of Paul Waner, Pittsburgh star, finished to lead the National League, batters. Al Simmons of the Athletics, who had a batting streak in July and August, later slumped owing to an injury and was benched for a long time, was running up to Heilmann, six points behind.

Heilmann's record was a result of his hitting in the first five of the American League.

WATER OUTLOOK FIELD
Paul Waner so far outclassed the rest of the National League batters that Rogers Hornsby, in second place, finished twenty points behind. Lloyd Waner, who was members of the Pirates' famous brother act, was third. Ruggs Stephenson, of the Cubs, and Pie Traynor, of Pittsburgh, were fourth and fifth.

In games won Jess Haines, of the Cardinals, ranks higher with twenty-four victories, but in percentage, Waite Hoyt, of the Yankees, stands at the top, with 137; Hornsby with 134, and Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh, with 133.

FRISCH WAY IN FRONT
Frank Frisch, who went to the Cardinals for Hornsby in the famous trade of a year ago, won the base-stealing honors of the majors with 48, almost the double the best mark of the American League, George Slaughter's 27.

Detroit snapped over the most double play of the 1927 season, but one more than the St. Louis Cardinals.

Babe Ruth, with his record-breaking total of 60 homers for the season, finished 13 homers ahead of his closest rival, but Gehrig led Babe in extra base hits, 118 to Ruth's 97.

Ruth was the leading run scorer with 158, and was followed in order by Gehrig with 149; Combs, of New York, with 137; Hornsby with 134, and Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh, with 133.

FRISCH WAY AHEAD
Frank Frisch was away ahead in both major leagues in stolen bases with 48. George Slaughter, of the St. Louis Browns, topped the American League base-punchers with 28.

Jess Haines, of the St. Louis Cardinals, topped the National League pitchers, with 24 victories and ten defeats, and Waite Hoyt, of the Yankees, led the American League with 22 wins and 7 defeats.

New York, Oct. 3.—Thomas Quigley and Charles Moran were selected by President John Heydler, of the National League, to lead the team in the world's series, opening next Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

Incogs Unable To Repulse Mainland Team And Lose Cup

Tomalin Trophy Carried Off By Vancouver City In Final Cricket Match

"Dead Wicket" Makes Scoring Low; Visitors Won on First Innings by 35 Runs

University Incogs, the leaders in the Island District League went down to defeat before Vancouver City, winners of the Mainland League, in a match played at the University School grounds during the week-end. In doing so the Tomalin Cup, held by the Incogs, passed to the star Mainland eleven by 35-50 on the first innings.

On the whole the day's play proved somewhat unattractive, each side seemingly being on the defensive, and this, combined with a dead wicket and the cool atmosphere, accounted for the small score. The only bright bit of cricket seen during the watch was the partnership of Reggie Wenman and Ashley Sparks, who in less than half an hour in the second innings, sent the score board to over 70 runs, but the task set the Incogs of getting 173 runs in three-quarters of an hour, proved too great and the visiting team won by 35 runs on the first innings.

Captain Tomalin, donor of the trophy, was present and in a few appropriate remarks handed his cup to the skipper of the Vancouver City eleven, F. A. Baars.

THE HIGHLIGHTS
The batting of Wenman and Sparks, the latter obtaining the highest score of the day, namely, 43, in the Incogs' second innings, the brilliant hitting of Ben Ingle—41 not out, for the Mainlanders; the bowling of Sparks—5 wickets for 33 runs of Rivers and Bulfinch—five wickets for fourteen runs, and five wickets for twenty-nine runs respectively. The excellent wicket keeping of young Jackson, who stumped the famous Stan Biles, and Ingle—said to have been coached by the celebrated Jessop, in brilliant style, two smart catches in the slips by both elevens, and the small total of "Mr." extras in the Vancouver City total standing to the credit of the Incogs.

The visitors and the local team were the guests of Rev. W. B. Bolton of the University School. The scores:

OPPOSING HURLERS IN FIRST GAME

The opening game of the world's series will be played on Wednesday at Pittsburgh, and it is announced that Kremer will pitch for the Pirates and Hoyt for the Yankees.

Curtain Falls On Big League Ball Season

Fourteen Teams Breaking Up To-day With Two Other Clubs Preparing for World's Series; Pittsburgh's Margin at Top of National League Was One Game and a Half; Giants Nosed Out of Second Place by St. Louis Cards

New York, Oct. 3.—Fourteen major league baseball teams were disbanding to-day and more than 350 players were starting for their homes, barring the few who will witness the world's series, starting Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

The curtain dropped on the 1927 season yesterday with only one contest on for positions.

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-4 and gained second place in the National League. The New York Giants, who had aspired for the runner-up post, beat out Philadelphia 5-4 in ten innings, but landed in third place, one-half game behind the world's champions. The Cardinals were booked for a double-header in the eighth inning and the second game had to be cancelled.

The visitors and the local team were the guests of Rev. W. B. Bolton of the University School. The scores:

City, Thistles And Esquimalt Winners In First Division

Thistles and City Forced to Limit to Win and Are Tied For League Leadership

Westes and Esquimalt on Even Terms For Third Place; Scottish Still Weak

Two close games were witnessed in the First Division soccer matches played Saturday afternoon, while the third fixture proved a walkaway. Victoria City and Saanich Thistles, who are now tied for the leadership of the league, were forced to extend themselves to the limit in order to win.

On the other hand Esquimalt found no trouble disposing of the 18th Canadian Scottish by overwhelming score of 6-1. The City won from the Five C's, last year's junior champions, 2-1, while the Thistles overcame Victoria West 3-2.

Fans who attended the match at the Royal Athletic Park between the Thistles and Westes, saw the latter put up a stiff fight but not quite enough to best the lads from Saanich.

WESTES OPEN SCORING
In the first half the Thistles with their dashing style of play, had the edge. In one of the attacks the Westes were awarded a penalty after Harper had handled the ball, Godwin scoring from the kick.

The game was featured by the awarding of three penalties, two against the Thistles and one against the Westes, but only one of them resulted in a goal being scored.

The Thistles took up the attack and Ewing's cross shot from the wing hit the crossbar to bounce back into play. The Thistles continued to keep the ball in the Westes goal area and they evened up the count when Geddes, in goal for the Westes, let Joe Crowe's ground shot get past him. Shortly after the Thistles took the lead on Ewing's goal.

Just before half-time the Westes got on even terms again, Jimmy Shearatt beating Hetherington with a fine shot from right wing.

The Westes had an opportunity to take the lead in the second half when they were awarded their second penalty but Hetherington pulled off a great save and kept the score even.

The Thistles scored the winning goal about the middle of the second half. Burns took a long shot from the left side of the field and it was the softest goal of the game.

With only a few minutes to go the Thistles were awarded a penalty but Ewing, who took the kick, missed.

The teams were as follows:
Saanich Thistles—Hetherington, Price, Harper, Mitchell, Burns, Saville, Crowe, Ewing, Minnis, Burns, Saville and Ewing.

Victoria Westes—Geddes, Dunn, Allan, Pasmore, Godwin, Popham, Shearatt, Collins, Robinson, Brown and Mulachy.

Playing with only ten men throughout the entire game the City had their hands full chalking up a victory over the Five C's at Beacon Hill. The City played hard and well, and scored two goals. Two fine goals by Glancy in the second half were responsible for the downfall of the youngsters.

In the first half the City played the better football and only lack of experience in front of the goal kept them from scoring. Many times they would work the ball to within striking range only to shoot wide or lose it to one of the opposing backs.

MAKE A CHANGE
At the start of the second half, Glancy, playing left full-back for the City, was moved to centre-forward.

While Dowds replaced him on the defence, this move strengthened the attacking line and ten minutes after the start Glancy beat Tuckwell from close quarters.

The Five C's tried hard to equalize and during a scrimmage in the City's goal the ball was handled and the goal was given. Hood scored from the "spot."

Glancy gave the City the lead again when he sent Tuckwell after a fine individual play. This proved to be the winning goal although the Five C's tried hard to equalize.

Sauers refereed and the teams were as follows:
Victoria City—Rogers, W. Campbell and Dowds; George Prostet and Bowman; Cummings, A. Campbell, Glancy, Bissell and Belford.

Five C's—Tuckwell; Hood and White; Shanks, E. Viggers and Moulton; Eden and Quinlan. Reserves, Macdonald and Sutton.

Esquimalt found the 16th Canadian Scottish easy pickings at Work Point. The regimental eleven played better football than the previous week, and were able to hold their first opponents until the remainder of their team put in an appearance.

Esquimalt, opened the scoring when "Toots" Plump beat Matthews with an easy shot. Bob Stewart made it 2-0 shortly after when he booted Wagland's corner kick into the net. Wagland was responsible for Esquimalt's third goal, driving Burnett's rebound past Matthews.

In the second half John Watt made it 4-0 and a few minutes later headed his second counter into the net. Burnett made it 6-0 on a pass from John Watt.

Clarkson scored the Scottish's only goal, after working his way through the defence to beat Bridges with a stinging shot.

The teams were as follows:
Esquimalt—Bridges; Joe Watt and Stewart; John Watt; Burnett, "Toots" Plump and Wagland.

16th Scottish—Matthews; Stuart and Harwood; Woolridge, Leggett and Simpson; Shanks; Carter, Obee, Clarkson and Campbell.

Results in the junior and juvenile leagues were as follows

BUFFALO WIN THIRD IN LITTLE WORLD'S SERIES FROM TOLEDO

Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 3.—The Bison production department swung into full motion yesterday for the first time during the little world series with the Toledo Mud Hens and as a result 14,000 baseball fans saw the visitors get the choicest beating of the series when they landed in the small end of an 8-to-2 score.

Bullet Joe Bush, of world's series fame, felt the full fury of the Bison attack and was knocked from the box after facing four batters. Ryan shortly afterwards suffered the same fate but Misteard and Winner, who appeared on the scene later, managed to hold the visitors fairly well in check. The series now stands 2 to 1 in favor of Mud Hens as the clubs prepare to move back to Toledo for games on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Auto Racer Killed

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 3.—Julian "Lita" Everett of Wilmington, Del., was killed here on Saturday in an accident that mangled the annual hundred-mile automobile race on the speedway.

The race, which carried a prize of $1,000, was won by Ben Shaw of Westville, N.J., who clipped off the 100 miles in 58 minutes.

Everett was in third place when the accident occurred. When he attempted to pass another car his machine left the track, ran 30 feet along the fence and then crashed through it. His neck was broken.

Sir Michael Duff
Visitor on B.C. Coast

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Having shot his lion and "rhino" in Africa and his ibex and bear in Kashmir, Sir Michael Duff, twenty-year-old Britishman, arrived in Vancouver Sunday night, en route home to England by way of Hollywood.

"Well," explained Sir Michael, "I've been so much about the place I thought it would be a pity, now that I'm here, to cross the continent without seeing it. I'd like to go to get a small part of a movie, just for the novelty of the thing. I'd like to do what Ramon Novarro does, and drive out of these big cherties around."

Dr. S. Arrhenius
Died in Stockholm

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 3.—Dr. Svante Arrhenius, professor of chemistry in Stockholm University and Nobel Prize winner for chemistry in 1903, died here Sunday. He was sixty-eight years of age.

His death removed another of the Nobel Prize winners within a few days. Professor Arrhenius, heart specialist, winner of the Nobel Prize for medicine in 1924, died at Leyden, Holland, last Thursday.

Cochrane Still Champ

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Overcoming a long lead by a sparkling brand of billiard game, Walker Cochrane, of Hollywood, Cal., successfully defended his world's 18.3 ball line championship in the final block of a 1,500-point match with the German challenger, Sepp Hagelacher, at Orchestra Hall on Saturday night. The final score was Cochrane 1,500, Hagelacher 1,474.

Cochrane, who started Saturday's final 500-point block 292 points behind, chalked up an inning average of ninety-nine points to win.

Flashing Rally By Argoes Gives Them Tie With Champions

Ottawa Fail to Hold League; Hamilton Smother Montreal

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 3.—A sensational fourth quarter attack, coupled with a temporary collapse of the Ottawa defence, earned Toronto Argonauts a tie in the opening "Big Four" rugby game played here Saturday afternoon and gave them an equal division of league points with the home team. The final score was 10-10.

The sensational finish was put on by the visitors in the opening seven minutes of the final period. In that space of time the Argos twice forced the ball across the Ottawa goal line to draw level with the Senators, who had a ten-point lead going into the final quarter.

The game was hard fought but cleanly played.

A distinct margin in backfield play gave Hamilton Tigers a 14 to 1 victory over the Montreal Football Club of Montreal in the other inter-provincial contest.

The Tigers presented a snappy running and punting attack which kept the winged wheelers fighting with their backs against the wall almost throughout. Langway and Pep Leadley bore the brunt of the Hamilton offensive.

Leadley featured with two field goals. Both from the thirty-yard line.

McGill University, favored by many rugby critics to win the intercollegiate union race this year, went down to defeat before Balmy Beach, Ontario union champions, at Oakwood stadium here Saturday afternoon in an exhibition game which was featured by the use of a modified form of the American forward pass. The score was 12-4. Although the new play opened up the game substantially, it could not be said to have been a success, as the players of both teams showed their inexperience when they attempted to receive the ball.

"CAMILLE" IS CAPITOL FEATURE FILM AFTER VAUDEVILLE OFFERING

Wonderful Setting Used for Filming of Alexandre Dumas's Romantic Story

In addition to the big feature attraction this week the management of the Capitol Theatre is presenting three vaudeville acts, which include The De Cielitos in a superb comedy dance presentation; Denham and Wallace, the "Ukelele Hounds" in a collection of popular melodies; and Miss Louie Fisher, monologist de luxe. The orchestral specialty offering will be the famous composition "Plymouth Hoe," and will be rendered by the Capitol concert orchestra under the baton of J. Prescott.

Most famous of the classics of ro-manic literature, "Camille" the younger Alexandre Dumas's immortal story, has been adapted to the motion picture screen in modern form, with Miss Talmadge in the title role.

While no liberties are taken with the pathetic romance of the youthful "Armand" and his "Lady of the Camellias," as originally conceived, Miss Talmadge has given the story its setting in present-day Paris and the picture is in other respects a product of the present age. With bobbed hair and a wardrobe expressing the last word of Parisian style creators, the characterization of "Camille" is the star's visualisation of the famous siren as she would appear in current times.

The support cast presents a list of well-known names, with Lilyan Tashman appearing as "Olympe," Rose Dione as "Prudence," Harvey Clark as "The Baron," Alec Francis as "The Duke," Helen Jerome Eddy as "Camille's maid," Albert Conti as "Henri," Michael Viseroff as "Camille's father," Evelyn Selbie as the "mother" and Etta Lee as "Matalotti."

Mistress (to new help)—"Oh, Mary, how clumsy! You've broken one of my china plates in two."
The maid—"This is my lucky day, mum. I generally have to gather up the pieces in a dustpan."

GREAT LEADER BRINGS WONDER BAND TO CITY

John Philip Sousa Has America's Foremost
Musicians Here on Tour

With a band such as Victoria rarely has the privilege of hearing. Lieutenant-Commander John Philip Sousa, a visitor to this city to-day, and will give two concerts, one this afternoon and one this evening, at the Arena, where there is accommodation for thousands of lovers of music. The programme which this organization of master musicians has to offer is of a character to please the most fastidious, the most critical.

At the matinee performance Lieutenant-Commander Sousa will introduce a musical novelty, the title of which is "Showing Off Before Company," 1927 edition—wherein various members of the band will do individual stunts. At the beginning of the second part the stage is entirely vacant—the first section that appears are the clarinetists, playing the ballet music of "Sylvia"—this is followed by other sections of the band doing individual stunts, many of them very funny, the whole resolving itself into a fascinating musical vaudeville.

It is interesting to note that somewhere along the route of his thirty-fifth annual tour, Lieutenant-Commander John Philip Sousa will work his fingers into his 10,000 pair of white kid gloves. Sousa upon the director's stand probably would be more at home without a baton than without his white kid gloves, and with a record of a new pair of gloves every time he has appeared on the conductor's stand over a stretch of thirty-three years, the March King has been somewhat of a friend to the kid glove industry, that the forty weeks of his tour will require about 400 pairs of gloves.

As to the tremendous popularity of the organization just at present, it is due to the fact that it is a superior band, but still more to the magnificent leadership of Mr. Sousa, whose thorough knowledge of music enables him to provide fascinating programmes without—banality or boredom. Nothing unworthy is ever played under his baton yet he has cheerful, sparkling music, and it is lively and up-to-date. His own marches, selections from his operas, his suites, his songs and other compositions from his numerous list, give distinctive character to his offerings. There is no one who has ever equalled him in the writing of marches, and they are played around the world and on every imaginable occasion. This season, as in the past, he has a number of new compositions of his own in his repertoire, and they are received with as much enthusiasm as his established favorites.

Airship Lunatic Laughter Maker At Columbia Now

"The Lunatic at Large" is Title of Film With Wedding in Air

A wedding ceremony performed in a dirigible is one of the unusual thrills in First National's latest comedy, "The Lunatic at Large," starring Leon Errol and Dorothy Mackall at the Columbia this week.

Perhaps this is a near wedding ceremony, for Errol climbs aboard the dirigible by means of a rope ladder just as it leaves the ground, and causes so much havoc that the crew jumps overboard with their parachutes and the dirigible crashes to earth before the wedding is completed. No one is hurt.

DOMINION HAS DOUBLE BILL FEATURING STAGE AND SCREEN SURPRISES

The Mystery Girl Provides Unique Type of Programme With "Lovers" on the Screen

To take your own films, play the leading role and, at the same time, appear in person at their presentation and sing appropriate songs, is a triple accomplishment that comes to but few people. But this is just what the "Mystery Girl" does. She comes to the Dominion Theatre, commencing to-day, and in addition to her wonderful personality, members of the audience will have an opportunity of hearing her tell how girls, even when they are without good looks may, by pluck and perseverance, win out in the battle of life.

EISTEDDFOD PLANS MATURING RAPIDLY

Open Events as Well as Welsh Society Numbers on November 4 and 5

Increasing interest is being displayed in the coming Welsh Eisteddfod to be held in Victoria on November 4 and 5, much beyond the expectations of the officers of the Welsh Society. The five previous annual competitions were confined to juvenile events and to children of members, but the society, imbued with the spirit of friendly competition developed by the Victoria Musical Competition Festival last April, have dared to include nine open numbers, inquiries about which are becoming numerous.

The officers of the society are feeling confident that these Eisteddfod will grow year by year and become a healthy corollary to the work so strongly commenced by the Victoria Musical Festival Association. A. Fraser and Prof. E. S. Farr will jointly adjudicate numbers 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 18, 19 and 20. Mr. Philip Hughes and Prof. T. R. Roberts numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10. Vice-President D. Evans numbers 21 and 22.

The programme for this year follows:

INSTRUMENTAL.
Pianoforte solo, sixteen and under, open—Quatre Impromptus, Op. 94 No. 2, by Schubert.
Pianoforte solo, any age, open—Country Gardens No. 22, by Percy Aldridge Grainger.

Solo, boys or girls, eight and under—"Till Be a Sunbeam; No. 3 book Alexander's Hymns.

Solo, boys or girls, twelve and under—"Free As a Bird," by Marie S. B. Dana.

Solo, boys or girls, sixteen and under, open—"Beautiful Isle of the Sea," by J. R. Thomas.

Solo, boys or girls, sixteen and under—"In Happy Moments," by W. V. Wallace.

Welsh solo, any voice, own choice. Challenge solo, any voice, open—Own choice.

Duet, any voices, open—"Good-Bye," by Tosti.

Quartette, mixed voices, open—"Peace Be Still," Sankey's solos, by H. R. Palmer.

RECITATIONS.
Recitation, boys or girls, eight and under—"Did You Ever?" by Donald A. Fraser.

Recitation, boys or girls, twelve and under—"Lead Kindly Light," popular hymn books, by Newton.

Recitation, boys or girls, sixteen and under—"Mary's Trust," by I. V. Crawford.

Recitation, boys or girls, sixteen and under, open—"The Wreck of the W. J. Pierie," by W. Armstrong.

Recitation, Welsh adults—"Mark Anthony's Oration," from Julius Caesar, Act 3, scene 2, by J. Shakespeare.

Recitation, any age, open—"The Ocean," by Byron.

Welsh recitation—Own choice.

LITERARY.
Unpunctuated Reading.
Composing of Love Letters—Open.
Essay, "Confederation," sixteen and under.

ARTS.
Work of Arts—Boys sixteen and under.
Work of Arts—Girls sixteen and under.

Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 14, 16 and 19, are open. Other numbers for members of Welsh Society. Medals will be given to winners of the nine open events.

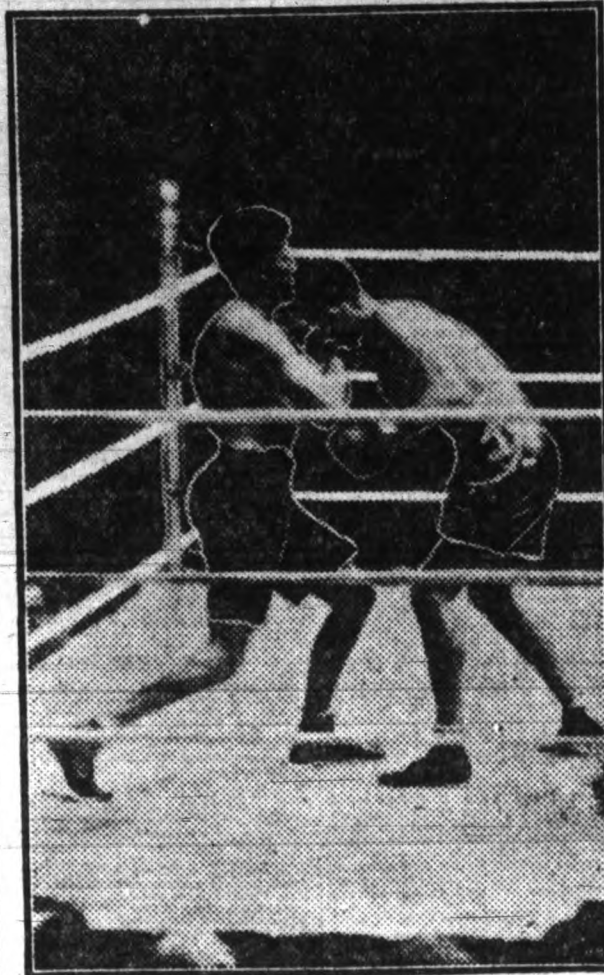

Retires—and Means It
Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 3.—Mary Aiken has fooled Hollywood.

When the popular screen actress married Edwin Carewe, film producer, nearly three years ago and announced that she would retire from the screen, forever, the so-called wise ones of the village just smiled. They had heard the same thing dozens of times before but the lure of klieg and grease paint always proved too strong.

Even her friends confidently expected to see Mary back on the screen within a year. Even when little Sally Anne was born about a year after the marriage in Mexico City, the "know it alls" would not believe that Mary Aiken, or Mrs. Carewe, intended to definitely remain away from the grinding camera.

With the birth of a second baby, Edwin Gilbert, a few days ago, those who predicted Mary would not be able to stay away from the studio are willing to admit they were wrong. It looks as if the former actress really meant what she said.

FIGHT PICTURES AT THE COLISEUM

is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.
Chet Withey's direction lends a power and dignity to the production, and the cast, including Tom Santoli, Kathleen Kirkham, Carol Nye, Greta Von Rue, Stanton Heck, Boris Karloff and Charles McHugh, provide excellent support. Doris Anderson adapted and scenarized the picture from the original story by Weed Dickinson and Hyatt Daab.

Fight Pictures Started To-day At the Coliseum

Scenes of Recent Tunney-Dempsey Bout on Screen With Other Attractions

Keeping up to its 100 per cent policy for pleasing its patrons, the Coliseum management in securing the Tunney versus Dempsey fight pictures has gone one better than its previous efforts, according to the comment around the city and the large amount of calls for seats (of which none are reserved) it is going to be a great success all around. The management is shows every night so that all can be accommodated.

Along with this remarkable attraction of fight films is also the regular programme of a high class feature and comedy and British news weekly besides the four acts of vaudeville, which include Iris Gaskill, in Castilian interpretative dances. Miss Gaskill will offer dances that have come straight from New York. Following Miss Gaskill is Jack Wright, baritone, and next comes Pearl Hong and Miss Faine, in a novelty double act of singing and selections on the cello. The British news weekly is one of the big attractions at this theatre and is on again this week as usual.

"Soft Cushion" is Douglas MacLean's latest Paramount comedy. In this picture he surrounds himself with a bery of feminine beauties and he takes full advantage of this chance. Raiding the ranks of Hollywood's bathing beauties and beauty contest winners, MacLean assembled only Oriental harem for the benefit of the camera which would be the envy of any potentate. Because of the revealing costumes, beauty of figure was as essential as beauty of face in the selection of these players.

ARION CLUB PLANS SPECIAL PROGRAMME

Izard Sisters to Appear on November 15 at Royal Victoria

The Arion Club will open its thirty-sixth season at the Royal Victoria Theatre on November 15. On this occasion the club will introduce to Victoria music lovers Miss Constance Izard, violinist, and Miss Margaret Izard, cellist, who are making a tour of Canada after a most successful season in London at the Queen's Hall, Albert Hall, and other well-known concert auditoriums.

Since the announcement of their engagement was first made, the management of the club has received many complimentary and congratulatory messages from Victorians who heard the Misses Izard in London recently, who state that a great treat is in store for those who attend the concert.

The Misses Constance and Margaret Izard are sisters of Miss Mary Izard, who is well known in Victoria musical circles. The Arion Club will also be heard at this concert in four short representative numbers. This concert will not be included in the club's regular series, but is an additional obligation undertaken by the club in order to enable Victorians to hear these two versatile English artists during their Canadian tour.

FAMOUS VIOLINIST TO LIVE IN CANADA

Alexander Chuhaldin, Russian, Arrived Yesterday on Liner Montclare

Quebec, Oct. 3.—One of the world's greatest violinists is now making Canada his home, having arrived here yesterday, in the person of Alexander Chuhaldin, who has just completed an Australian tour. He spent two weeks in England and traveled to Canada on the Canadian Pacific steamship Montclare.

The artist, who was accompanied by his wife, first started practicing the violin at the age of four and made his first public appearance in Moscow at the age of nine, while five years later he was conducting one of the biggest symphony orchestras in Russia, numbering 194 souls. He remained in Russia all through the revolution, had his estate confiscated and finally managed to make his escape. When the Minister of Education in Russia granted him a vacation, Mr. Chuhaldin went to Harbin, crossed on to Chinese soil and failed to return to Russia. He worked his way across to Europe, and then toured Australia, finally coming to Canada, which he says he will make his future home.

"The Montclare brought many passengers, among them being C. S. MacInnes of Montreal, brother of Vice-president MacInnes of the C.P.R., Lady Burnett of Leeds; Right Rev. Mgr. C. V. Hudson, of Birmingham, England, in charge of a party of thirty-three for the Catholic Immigration Home in Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hobday of Toronto, with a party of fifty-one boys from the Dr. Barnardo homes in England; Cole J. Deering, of New York, one of the leading lights in the medical profession in the United States; J. Goodstone, of Warsaw, out here on a commission for the Polish Government, the nature of which he would not reveal; L. Richmond of Montreal, internationally known artist returning home to Canada after an extended vacation on the other side of the Atlantic;

The prosecuting counsel had encountered a rather difficult witness. At length, exasperated by the man's evasive answers, he asked him whether he was acquainted with any of the jury.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness, more than half of them.

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" demanded the man of law.

The other thought quickly. "If it comes to that," he replied, "I'm willing to swear that I know more than all of 'em put together!"

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

"Well, she has to be blonde in this story, because the man's dark," explained the author. "When the man's blonde, then the girl's dark. I alternate 'em."

On the way home Molly stopped and bought some beef, ready-made—Bob had approved of the food from the delicatessen shop before. She also purchased potato salad, lettuce and a fresh supply of mayonnaise.

She had the table set and the coffee ready when her husband returned home.

"Jehosophat, I'm tired," Bob announced, as he came in. "Office work is worse'n running around the streets, any day of the week. Molly, I've lost four pounds!" His eye lit on the dinner. "More beef? Bully! But, Molly, when did you have a chance to cook it?"

"I had to buy this at the delicatessen," she admitted. "There isn't time to cook anything but chops after I get home. But those professionals cook better than I do, anyway."

Brownell dropped into his chair. "What do you think happened now?" he asked. She waited in the doorway for him to continue. "Little Swedie went at lunch time and gave that woman her five hundred dollars—the woman who had Swedie's husband arrested!"

"She did?" Molly's hands went up in amazement.

"And the woman has agreed not to testify against him!"

"That's the absolute limit, Bob! Does it mean that he'll go free?"

"Well, the prosecutor can go ahead with the case, but I don't see how he can do much if the woman won't testify. Swedie was around the office this afternoon happy as a lark. She's sure that crook'll be out of jail this week some time."

"But how about the diamond ring, and marrying two wives? Don't they punish men for doing things like that?"

"I don't know. But Swedie split her money in two, and gave half of it to the woman and half to Mr. Frazier. She's flat broke again."

Later in the day Mary Holmquist herself came and told the rest of the story. It was after dinner. Molly and Bob, tired out, were sitting in opposite corners of their living-room, each with a section of the newspaper. They had been to moving picture shows on Monday and Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday after dinner they had gone for a ride. Thursday night they had voted to stay home, and this was when Swedie found them.

Her cheeks flushed and her lips tremulous with happiness, she came in the door, and immediately seized upon Molly and hugged her.

"It's just too good to be true," she said. "My husband is out of all his trouble, and he's on his way down to Somerville now to get divorced!"

"Divorced?" cried Molly. "From you?"

"Why not? From that other girl. She practically trapped him into getting married. He told me all about it. We were waiting to talk to the prosecutor, because the lady who had him arrested got her money back, and there wasn't any more reason for keeping him in jail."

"But what did the jeweler say? Wasn't he interested?"

"Oh, I'm paying for the ring," the blonde girl said. "I've paid Mr. Frazier what I owe him, and that leaves me ten dollars a week to pay on the diamond, and seven dollars a week on my clothes."

"Mary, where is the ring—the one your husband took?"

"He didn't take it—I gave it to him," little Swedie contradicted. "He asked me for it."

"But where is it?"

"That other girl has it—the one who jilted him into marrying her. She practically took it away from him! He told me the whole story while we were waiting in the prosecutor's office. You'd feel sorry if you could have listened. This girl pretended that she was rich—anyway, she is the daughter of a rich farmer, but her father is the stingiest thing! My husband was out of money. He was desperate. And when she came making eyes, he sort of went out of his head and married her, and she got my ring. And when they went to her folks' house her father simply slammed the door and left them outside, away out in the country! And they had to walk into town. And my husband didn't have the money to pay the hotel bill. It was lucky for him Mr. Frazier came—he paid the way back to New York."

"Had he known the girl before?" Brownell asked.

"Oh, yes—he'd met her." "Did he go to Somerville to find her, when he left you?"

"He said that was just an accident—meeting her there. She was visiting friends. It was there he met her before—a month or two before he met me. And as soon as they let him out of jail he took train for Somerville. He's going to get my diamond back and get a divorce right away!" She stopped, happy at the prospect she unfolded.

"How'd he get the money to go to Somerville?" Bob wanted to know.

Little Swedie flushed. "I had some from my Saturday's pay. I lent it to him."

"He's coming back to you?" Molly asked.

"Of course," said Mary Holmquist. "I'll be making enough for both of us after the ring and my clothes are paid for."

Molly got up and crossed the room, and stood before the pretty blonde.

"You've only got thirteen dollars a week left, and you have to pay five a week of that for rent," she accused. "What are you eating?"

Little Swedie reddened again. "I eat—why, I eat lots," she said. "It doesn't take much to feed a girl!"

Without further comment, Molly went to the kitchen and with a clatter of aluminumware and china, got together a plateful of food.

"You come out here and eat something," Mary Holmquist said, commanding. "You've been starving yourself!"

The girl obeyed, and hungrily devoured the meat and salad and bread and butter that Molly had set out.

"Tell me, Mary," she said, after a time, how did your husband get out of his trouble about marrying two girls?"

"I did something terrible," the blonde answered. "I fixed it for him. He leaped over and whispered in Molly's ear."

CHAPTER XLVI

"I told the district attorney that my husband and I weren't married," said little Swedie.

Molly gulped. But you are married, aren't you?"

"Oh, surely. But he used a false name, you know, when he got the license. This way there isn't any charge against him at all. He can go down and get divorced from that other girl and then we can be together, and happy."

Brownell shook his head when little Swedie finally went away. "That kid's in for more trouble, in job lots. Her husband will come back to her."

"She thinks he will, though," Molly said. "Bob, isn't it funny that she's staying on at Mrs. Potter's? As soon as Mrs. Potter moves to her brother's house, Mary'll be without a place to stay."

"Guess she's had something else to think about besides looking for a room," he surmised. "She'll be all right—there are lots of places to camp in this town."

"But there aren't many nice ones as cheap as that," Molly said.

Friday came, and Saturday, Friday afternoon was as full of thrills as her other working hours, for Molly, the story that she copied was tense and long drawn out. It looked as if the heroine never would get away from the wicked man who was keeping her a prisoner, and showing his white teeth at her whenever she wept and prayed to him. On Saturday there was no typing to do. Molly waited outside the office for Brownell to come and take her riding.

"What's the news from Mrs. Potter?" Molly asked, as she and her husband started out for the garage.

"Not a word," said Bob.

The old lady's still in her flat. Haven't seen her since she blew into the office and gave Swedie that thousand dollars."

"Turning into Broadway they moved more slowly because of the pressing crowds. Walking close to the great plate-glass windows they paused, now and then to look at the displays within. One store showed an array of clothing and shirts and headgear for men. Bob drew back.

"Look at that striped suit, Mollykins," said he. "That's the kind I think I'll get."

"But, Bobbie, we can't buy any clothes! He pulled him forward.

"There isn't a cent left out of my salary, every week, and we mustn't dig into that money in the bank."

He turned away from the window reluctantly. "Gee, I haven't had a new suit in a con's age," he said. "My clothes look like the Dickens."

"You're in the office all the time, though," she comforted. "It isn't so bad as if you had to see customers."

Further down the block they stopped before a drygoods store. Molly explained that she couldn't buy anything, either, but that she merely wanted to look.

As they stood, a noise arose at the entrance. They turned their heads.

"Hey, you fellow!" yelled a woman's voice. "Come here! Can't you hear me?"

The voice was Mrs. Potter's. That lady herself, brilliantly attired, was coming from the store with her arms full of bundles, and was shouting at a chauffeur who sat impassive in his car.

Brownell ran forward and took the bundles from Mrs. Potter's arms.

"Hello," said she, readjusting her hat and the white fur that had begun to fall from her shoulder. "That imbecile of a chauffeur's pretending he's deaf." She raised her voice again.

"Hey, young fellow!"

The man deliberately turned and regarded her. Then, very slowly, he descended to the pavement and opened the door of the car.

"I'm going to have you fired," announced the lady.

His expression did not change. With out-thrust lower lip and elevated chin he waited while Bob arranged the parcels on the floor of the tonneau.

"Get in," ordered Mrs. Potter. "Both of you get in. We'll take a ride." Lean forward she added to the chauffeur: "Take us riding—and none of your monkey-shines!"

Brownell helped his wife to a seat beside her ex-lavandary, and he found a place for himself on one of the collapsible chairs that fitted into the rear of the driver's compartment.

"I'm having the worst time educating these servants," Mrs. Potter went on. "This fellow who's driving us—I had a talk with him the first day, and I told him I didn't want any nonsense from him. And since then he pretends he doesn't hear anything I say!"

Brownell covered his mouth with his hand, to conceal the twitching of his lips.

"I've told Frazee to fire him," Mrs. Potter continued, "but he doesn't tend to it. You can't rely on men to attend to anything. I fired the fellow myself, but he let on I wasn't talking over my head like a—like an ape or something. I could shake him!"

"I didn't know you'd moved to Mr. Frazier's house," said Molly.

"They were turning off Broadway now and threading their way through traffic."

"I haven't moved," Mrs. Potter said. "I'm not going to until that scamp of a landlord has paved the flat. I've been to see him every day and told him what I thought of him. It's nice to be rich—you can talk so much rougher than when you're poor." Her mind returned to her brother's house. "I've been taking care of things for Frazee, though. A man is helpless without a woman around. I drop in every morning and tell the servants what to do, and I've bought some things for that big front room. He had it all cluttered up with old stuff from Europe. He has no taste."

From FATHER TO MOTHER doesn't look to be a hard one, but it has its points. Par is four. The answer is printed on page 17.

MOTHER

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus, to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

POLICE AT SQUILAX HUNT MURDERER

Kahnooks, B.C., Oct. 3.—No arrests have been made yet in the case of James Craig, postmaster at Squilax.

He was murdered last Thursday night. He was shot by an unknown person, presumably about 9 o'clock, after he had put his car in his garage. The body has been made difficult by the fact that some nine hours elapsed before the crime was discovered, and a heavy rain obliterated traces of the gunman.

Inspector W. L. Fernie is heading a force of half a dozen officers who are sifting clues, and an arrest is anticipated. Police believe the murder was deliberately planned by someone who knew the vicinity and who stood behind the garage waiting with loaded rifle.

WENT FOR BOOK

The reason for the delay in the crime becoming known was as follows: Mr. Craig and his adopted daughter of eleven, accompanied by their neighbors, the Vickers, went to Chase early Thursday evening. When they returned the girl went home to her mother, who is an invalid, saying Mr. Craig would follow in a few minutes, as he had gone to get a book to read.

Mrs. Craig and the girl went to sleep. At about 9:30 Mrs. Craig awoke, and to her surprise, Mr. Craig was not there. She raised the alarm, and going outside they found the body.

It now seems from information gleaned from friends in town here that Mr. Craig had received some broad threats of violence from men near Squilax, whom he had termed "Boisheviks." It is considered possible that one of these threats materialized, and it is those cases on which Mr. Craig had been engaged, either as a magistrate or citizen, that the police are sifting.

As the shot rang out a worker walking on the C.P.R. track not fifty yards away, stopped, wondering what it was. There are, however, few white people at Squilax, many foreigners and Indians around, and he thought an Indian with a drink of gin might have fired a rifle "for fun."

Just at that moment, however, the listener heard hasty footsteps, as of a man running.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Sweet Grass

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis)

One morning, as Uncle Wiggily slid down the banister stair rail in his hollow stump bungalow to eat his breakfast before going adventuring, he heard his wife say to the little bunnies at the table:

"Now don't say anything to Daddy about it. I don't want him to go buy me something for a lot of money at the store. He won't think of it if you don't tell him, and I don't want him to bother."

"Dear me," I wonder what she means," Uncle Wiggily asked himself as he stepped outside the breakfast room door to straighten the twinkle on the end of his pink nose. And then, all of a sudden, he knew.

"This is my wife's birthday," he whispered. "She doesn't want me to remember and make a fuss over it or get her a present. But I shall, just the same, and I will surprise her. But, since she doesn't want me to spend money I will make her a present as the children did for the Lady Mouse Teacher. I'll play a joke on my wife! Ha! Ha!"

Bumming a little tune and pretending he had not heard what was said, also pretending that he did not remember anything about his wife's birthday, Uncle Wiggily hopped in and ate his breakfast. And when the little bunnies had eaten their breakfast they hopped on to school. But not before Jingle and Jangle had slyly said:

"We know something you don't know, Daddicums!"

"Oh, do you?" chuckled Mr. Longears. "Well, I suppose you do, for you learn many more things in school than I ever learned."

"Oh, it isn't that!" laughed Jingle. "It's about—"

"Now you hop along to school!" called Mrs. Longears, fearing the little bunny girls would let out the secret. And she really did not want a fuss made over her birthday.

But Uncle Wiggily's nose twinkled much more brightly and he whistled a jolly tune as he hopped out of the bungalow to go to a certain hill where he knew sweet grass grew. For the rabbit gentleman had made up his mind to make his wife for her birthday a box woven of sweet grass, in which she could keep her handkerchiefs.

"She will like a present if I make it myself," thought the rabbit daddy, "and sweet grass will perfume her handkerchiefs."

Some of our children may not know what sweet grass is, so I will tell you. It does not grow everywhere, but it is found in many places. When the long stems of sweet grass are woven into Jack cooked the trout himself. The still hungry bear was fed, and the little party was sitting around a strip of canvas spread on the ground to serve for a tablecloth, when a wild-looking, bare-headed man came crashing out of the dark woods, jabbering excitedly. "Here's the trouble I predicted!" exclaimed McNally, seizing a stout cudgel and leaping to his feet, ready for battle.

JACK LOCKWILL IN THE WOODS

BY GILBERT PATTEN

Tom McNally, Lockwill's former enemy at Rockdale Academy, who had become his staunch friend, was frying bacon over a fire before a small tent in the woods when Jack reappeared, followed by Darling, Bambi, and Garabaldi. The sight of them, coming forth from the woods in which the evening shadows were deepening, astonished McNally. "A bear!" he shouted, staring.

The girl made the bear's chain fast to a small, stout tree while Willie and Jack told McNally what had happened. "That means trouble for us," said Tom.

"Oh, that jayhawk was too scared to come back here tonight," declared Darling, proudly pouring the trout from the creel. "Here's our supper."

The Parent-Teacher Association met for their annual meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. W. Corbett on Tuesday evening of last week. With the retiring president, Mrs. V. W. Menzies, in the chair. The lengthy business programme included the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted as follows: Hon. president, Mrs. V. W. Menzies; president, Mrs. W. B. Johnston; first vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Stingsing; second vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Moulton; secretary, Miss L. Noble; treasurer, Miss M. McIntyre. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president, and a cordial welcome to the new teachers, who signified their co-operation by accepting positions on the executive. A sum of money which was received by the association as part proceeds from the July 1 picnic will be utilized for playground equipment. A very interesting article on the "Educational System of Denmark" was given by Dr. J. K. Unsworth. Refreshments

Famous Swimmer Restored to Health

Channel swims and lake marathons are not the only victories scored. Despite the best of care and attention, they are subject to many of the same distressing ailments as are people in the everyday walks of life; and they, too, have to battle against the rough waters of sickness. "Jimmy" Gates, popular athlete and swimming instructor, Inverlea Park, Peterboro, Ont., says: "I had begun to think Father Time was creeping up on me, for my stomach was disordered, appetite gone, and what little food I forced down disagreed with me. I lost sleep from nervousness, and got so run-down that I felt weak and short of breath every time I went swimming. But I haven't had a touch of indigestion, Tanlac. I eat hearty, am strong as an ox, and when I finish a long swim, feel fresh as a daisy."

Tanlac brings back appetite; helps you digest your food, gain in strength, increase in weight. Made of roots, barks and herbs—nature's own medicine for the stomach. Get a bottle from your druggist to-day; your money back if it doesn't help you.

B.C. TAXES HIGH, COVENTRY SAYS

Province Needs Reduction in Levies and in Debt, Saanich Member Asserts

British Columbia's great need is a reduction in taxation, T. G. Coventry, Conservative member of the Legislature for Saanich, declared in an address before a meeting of the Ward Four Conservative Association of Saanich Saturday night. "There must be something to bring down taxation and in the direction of reducing the provincial debt before British Columbia will advance as it should," Mr. Coventry asserted. Mr. Coventry quoted extensive figures to show that the Liberal Government now in power had raised the provincial debt without due regard to economy, while the former Conservative administration had increased provincial borrowing by a small figure in comparison. The increase in taxation under Liberal rule, he said, had been about $1,000,000 annually, which was approximately equal to the total increase under the former regime.

Mr. Coventry blamed the Liberal Government for the problem of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which was built by the Conservative Government.

Officers elected by the Ward Four Association were as follows: Chairman, H. Holmes; vice-president, J. Lynn; secretary-treasurer, Harry Fensham; executive committee, Percy Fisher, A. Laycock, R. Coverdale, Mrs. Coverdale, T. A. Hector, Fink, Mrs. E. Fensham, W. Stubbs, Mrs. M. Lynn, Mrs. A. Reid, Mrs. M. Laycock, Mrs. P. Fisher, Clark Dennis, J. Percival, W. Lumley, Perrier, Mr. Greenfield and Thomas Raper.

The additional members of the Central Executive who will act with the three officers elected were: Fisher and Mrs. R. Coverdale. It was announced that the annual meeting of the Saanich Conservative Association will be held in the Community Centre Hall, like hall, on Tuesday, October 4, at 8 p.m. The meeting was set originally for October 11, but the date was changed to secure the attendance of Hon. S. F. Tol-mite, Conservative Party leader, R. H. Fooley, M.P.P., and C. H. Dickie, M.P.

DO ANIMALS THINK? ASKS PARIS CONGRESS

They Do, Especially Dogs and Horses, Says German Doctor

Paris, Oct. 3.—The assertion that dogs and horses also are thinking animals and man need not lay sole claim to such popularly admitted definition, was discussed by the Third International Congress for Psychological Research, Dr. Karl Krahl, Munich, Germany, argued that all animals, especially dogs and horses, have powers of comprehension and interpretation rarely appreciated at their full value by their brother thinking animals—men. HIS THINKING DOG Dr. Wilhelm Neumann read a communication on his "thinking dog, Rolf," intended to prove telepathic contact between man and other animals and emphasizing the thinking possibilities of the so-called animals. Gifts of sweets and carrots with a few kind words or one pat on the head are worth more than a hundred gruff words in bringing out what is best in the mind of dogs and horses, Dr. Krahl said.

The speaker told of one of his horses, Hans, which after a few months friendship and training could count up to fifty-four.

THEY WON'T TALK

"Animals do not begin to exercise logical thought immediately but they soon respond to thoughts transmitted to them by humans," Dr. Krahl said. "Don't expect an animal to converse with you, but he will understand you and will make himself understood."

WE ADMIT DEFEAT!

Six years ago, as you follow the birds, we threw open the doors of our Wholesale Warehouse to the general public, selling direct at Wholesale Prices, plus our overhead. We have maintained these low prices in spite of sales and other competitive conditions. The fact is our prices have always been less than our competitors'; but while the public are howling about the High Cost of Living they resent walking a block to reduce it; where they park their cars they shop. Walking, Thinking and Saving are a past blessing—consequently, without location, we are licked to a frizzle, and The General Warehouse will soon be to Victoria another enterprise of the past.
